Congress Set To Get Off to Lively Start

Controversies Shape Up in Both Houses in Advance of Opening

WASHINGTON (AP) — With Christmas over, Congress members will start arriving soon for the new session which may open with battles in both House and Senate.

The 86th Congress convenes Jan. 7 with much bigger Democratic majorities than the 85th Congress of 1957-58.

Normally a new Congress gets off to a slow start but this time things look different.

Filibuster Issue Revived

In the Senate, a lengthy fight is shaping up over a move by Northern Democrats and Republicans to curb filibusters. Southern Democrats in the past have used unlimited debate to block civil rights legislation.

Senate Republicans also are embroiled in a family quarrel. A group which views the present GOP command there as behind the times is pushing a rival slate for top leadership posts.

In the House, a bloc of self-styled liberals wants to limit the power of the Rules Committee to bottle up legislation. Under present House rules, that committee can keep most bills from the floor almost indefinitely.

Unless a compromise is reached ahead of time, this fight will be settled on opening day.

Election Dispute

Another controversy confronting the House involves the disputed election of Dr. Dale Alford, a Little Rock segregation leader, to replace Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark), an avowed moderate on the segregation issue.

A special House committee recently conducted a preliminary probe of charges that irregularities figured in Alford's victory as a write-in candidate. The committee recommended Alford not be seated pending a fuller inquiry by a regular House committee.

Unless the case becomes an out-and-out civil rights issue, Alford probably will be permitted to take his seat on Jan. 7.

These controversies aside, it probably will be at least a month before any legislation of consequence reaches the floor of either branch.

Complete Reorganization

The House must completely organize from scratch. The Senate, with two-thirds of its membership holdover, has fewer organization problems.

Senate Republicans must select a new leader to replace William F. Knowland, who retired from the Senate to seek the governorship of California. He lost that race. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas continues as Senate Democratic leader.

Toll Climbs at 7 Per Hour Rate

Traffic Carnage in Nation Mounts in Holiday Period

New Record Death Mark May Be Set

Experts Voice Alarm As Highway Slaughter Takes Sharp Upturn

Traffic	268

By The Associated Press

A runaway pace of fatal traffic accidents today brought a warning that this may become the nation's bloodiest Christmas holiday.

"There's no indication that the traffic death toll isn't headed for an all-time high for any holiday in the nation's history," a National Safety Council official said.

The record auto toll is 706. That number was killed during the four-day Christmas period of 1956. In that weekend two years ago, accident deaths from all causes numbered 884, the highest over-all total in history.

The current Christmas weekend also is a four-day holiday. The death count which began at 6 p.m., Wednesday (local time) continues until midnight Sunday.

The first half of the 102-hour span brought an unusual number of fatal fires, including several multiple fatalities. Nine died in a farmhouse blaze near Auburn, Wash.

A prominent Virginia businessman, Horace A. Gray Jr., and four members of his family were killed when fire destroyed their Richmond mansion. Two separate fires in Pennsylvania, at Wilkes-Barre and Braddock, killed three children each. Three persons died in a Northampton, Mass., lodging house blaze. A father and his son perished in a Petersburg, Pa., fire.

But the highway toll was more than five times greater than that in fires. The massive upsurge in fatal crashes came despite emergency efforts of law enforcement agencies to promote sanity on the roads. Many police agencies canceled Christmas days off for their members and assigned them to

Ohio's Traffic Toll at Least 13, Still Mounting

By The Associated Press

Christmas is over but the long holiday weekend continued and with it Ohio's traffic death toll continued to rise.

Since The Associated Press began the death count at 6 p.m. Wednesday 13 persons have been killed on the state's highways, eight of them being killed on Christmas.

Almost on the stroke of 6 p.m. Wednesday, when the fatality tabulation began, a young Dayton mother was killed near Xenia. The death was the first reported in the nation for the holiday.

The tabulation will continue through midnight Sunday.

2 Killed Near Lorain

All of the accidental deaths have resulted from traffic mishaps. There has been only one auto crash that claimed more than one life—that being a collision near Lorain where two persons died.

The fatalities:

Wednesday night

Mrs. Carol Elliott, 25, Dayton, when the car in which she was riding left a Greene County road and smashed into a telephone pole about five miles east of Xenia.

Jesse J. Cain, 65, Beloit, in a three-car crash on U. S. 224 about 20 miles west of Youngstown.

Thursday

Ralph E. Cheek, 33, Springfield, when his car crashed on Old Columbus Road about 3½ miles east of Springfield.

Judy Gray, 15, Saltillo (Perry County), when the car in which she was riding crashed into a utility pole at the edge of Hebron (Licking County).

Jolly D. Horne, 23, of near Lawrenceville (Clark County), when

Two Airlines Resume Talks To End Strike

Eastern's Machinists Sign Pact; Engineers Delay Vote on Offer

By The Associated Press

Eastern Air Lines, having reached agreement with its striking machinists, returns to the bargaining table today with its striking flight engineers.

The line has been grounded for more than a month. Also out of commission is American Airlines, which is awaiting a decision by striking pilots on a seven-point settlement formula proposed by federal mediators. The company accepted it.

Chances are slim the two carriers will be operating in time to take care of a post-holiday transportation crush.

After the 5,300 striking members of the International Assn. of Machinists ratified the settlement with Eastern, George M. Brown, president of a Miami district of the union, said his members would not be asked to cross picket lines of any other union.

There has been no statement by Eastern that it would operate without flight engineers, required on planes with more than two engines.

When American's pilots walked off their jobs last Friday, they claimed their wage range of $400 to $1,600 a month was below that of other lines.

The carrier says the new pact proposed by mediators would mean $25,000 to $30,000 a year for its pilots, making them the highest paid in the industry. The new ceiling would be $2,362 a month, $28 more monthly than the previous company offer.

American said the pilots also are demanding 10 hours less flying time a month when operating jets. The current work month is 85 hours.

Children Among Victims

57 in Nation Die In Christmas Fires

By The Associated Press

The gay Christmas holiday period was turned into tragedy for many families across the country as fires took the lives of at least 57 persons.

Nine members of a family of 12 burned to death at the home of turkey farmer Olie Hollenbach near Auburn, Wash. The victims included Mrs. Hollenbach and eight of her children ranging from 4 to 18 years of age. The fire occurred early today.

The father, a daughter of 7 and an 80-year-old woman believed to be his mother-in-law, survived.

Many other persons were injured in flaming dwellings, some critically.

Five of the six members of a prominent Virginia family perished when flames swept their $150,000 mansion in the fashionable Windsor Farms suburb of Richmond early today.

3 Die in Pennsylvania

They were Horace A. Gray Jr., 49, director of the West Virginia Pulp & Paper Co.; his wife, Catherine, 47; two sons, Thomas, 17, and Foster, 13; and a daughter, Susan Lee, 19.

Another son, Horace A. Gray III, 22, had left the home a short time before the fire.

Two separate Pennsylvania fires each took the lives of three children.

An early Christmas morning fire killed the three children of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Degnan at Wilkes-Barre despite a desperate effort of their parents to save them. The children were Deborah, 4; Donald, 2; and Edward Jr., 1.

Father and Son Perish

At the Pittsburgh suburb of Braddock, three youngsters in the Robert Fletcher family died in flames at their two-story home early today. They were Eddie, 7; Cary, 4; and Grace, 2 months.

The 42-year-old father and another child, Willie, 11, were critically burned. Mrs. Fletcher, 30, and other sons of 7 and 8 received less serious burns.

At St. Petersburg in western Pennsylvania, Paul Winger Sr., 32, and his son, Paul Jr., 3, perished in their flaming home shortly after eating Christmas dinner. Winger's wife and four other children in the family escaped. A sixth child was away.

Three persons were killed early today in a fire which swept the Admiral Inn, a two-story wooden lodging house at Northampton, Mass.

Dayton Man Given Liquor Director Post

Richard C. Crouch To Succeed Moon in $12,000-a-Year Job

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov.-Elect Michael V. DiSalle today named Richard C. Crouch, Dayton businessman, as state liquor director in the new Democratic administration.

He joined the Dayton firm in 1946.

Before joining Acme, Crouch served in the Navy for four years. From 1931 to 1942, he was business manager for a firm of New York attorneys. He also was assistant treasurer of United States Shares Corp., New York, and a member of a certified public accountant firm.

A native of Titusville, Pa., he attended Allegheny College and was graduated by Columbia University.

Married, he is the father of two children.

Crouch is chairman of the advisory council on naval affairs for Dayton, and a member of the Dayton Area Chamber of Commerce.

Bodies of 15 Are Sought In Alaskan Plane Wreck

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Heavy-duty Army helicopters today were scheduled to attempt a hazardous landing near the wreckage of an Air Force cargo plane that crashed high on volcanic Mt. Iliamna Monday, apparently taking 15 men to their deaths.

The wreckage was sighted on the snow-covered side of the 10,116 foot mountain Thursday by a veteran Alaska bush pilot, Don Sheldon of Talkeetna, who reported to the Air Force that he saw no sign of life.

U.S. May Have New Weapon

Scientists Gather, Will Make Reports

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top scientists gathered today to swap ideas and report developments that could have great significance as the world races into the space age.

One advance report indicated that U.S. weaponeers may have come up with a new type of H-bomb — a lithium bomb packing a hydrogen-explosion punch at lower cost.

The report stemmed from observation of a strange air glow over the antarctic. This glow and a man-made aurora, the first ever sighted, were believed linked to U.S. atomic blasts last summer in the South Pacific.

Made During IGY

The observation came during the 18-month International Geophysical Year, now drawing to a close.

IGY doings and other topics were among the 1,800 reports listed for presentation at the 125th meeting of the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science.

Top speakers included President Eisenhower's science adviser, Dr. James R. Killian; the association president, Dr. Wallace R. Brode; and the British biologist-writer Julian Huxley.

Hugh Odishaw, executive director of the U.S. National Committee of the IGY, told about the lithium discovery in reporting on IGY highlights in the journal "Science." The IGY is scheduled to end Dec. 31.

Picked Up by Instruments

Odishaw said an eventide glow in the south polar skies had been spotted with sensitive instruments. The glow was attributed to lithium in the high atmosphere, not previously known to be there.

"A plain inference is that these new manifestations (the lithium glow) could be related to nuclear tests carried out during the same period as the IGY program," Odishaw said.

The United States conducted high altitude nuclear tests in the Pacific last August.

The Atomic Energy Commission declined to say whether it uses lithium, but some other scientists theorized that the antarctic glow means the AEC has found a less expensive H-bomb.

Pope's Prison Visit First in Modern Days

ROME (AP) — Rome's grubby but celestially named prison on the Tiber unrolled a rented red rug today to welcome Pope John XXIII—the first pontiff in modern history to visit a jail.

The directors of Regina Coeli—Queen of Heaven—jail also took a few precautions, such as sprinkling a few plainclothesmen among the prisoners.

"You could not come to see me," said the supreme pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church, "so it is right that I come to you."

The 1,500 prisoners, most of whom were permitted to look down on the Pope from their four floors of cells, cheered lustily and rhythmically, "Viva il Papa! Viva il Papa!"

They chanted so loud and long ignoring guards' orders to stop that one guard shouted "shut up."

Superintendent Carmine Scalia, called an aide and whispered: "Remind the guard that they are to follow today's instructions. They must act sweetly."

Pope John made a quick visit to the jail's infirmary and to one wing of cells. He stopped frequently to slip his hand through the bars so prisoners could kiss his ring.

At one cell he asked: "What do you think of my visit here?"

The prisoner replied with tears in his eyes. "It has made today the most memorable day of my life," he said.

"Of mine too," replied Pope John.

The pontiff and his party left an hour and a half after they had entered the jail.

Later it was announced that Pope John had given prison authorities several million lire to buy Christmas presents for Regina Coeli's inmates — Another first. A million lire is worth $1,600.

Akron Restaurant Hit By Fire, Loss $100,000

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — A fire which started in the kitchen of the Tangier Restaurant, a well-known specialty eating establishment near the downtown area, caused damage estimated at more than $100,000 today.

Flames shot up from over the stove where the cook and two chefs were working at 7 a. m. Within 80 minutes, firemen had the blaze under control. The first floor interior of the two-story building was gutted.

Ike Goes to Gettysburg

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower heads for his Gettysburg, Pa., farm today to work on messages to the new Congress.

Eisenhower and Mrs. Eisenhower arranged to leave about midday on the 85-mile drive to their country home. They plan to stay through New Year's Day.

Observances Held in Many Lands

World Tension Shelved Briefly During Holiday

By The Associated Press

Much of the world today let out its belt to accommodate Christmas overeating, continued its holiday into the weekend and looked forward to New Year celebrations.

An uneasy peace generally marked this year's observance of the birth of Christ. There were more threats of war from Moscow, but the only major fighting apparently was going on in Cuba, between President Fulgencia Batista's army and Fidel Castro's rebels.

There was only slight shooting on the world's other two active war fronts — the Nationalist islands off the coast of Communist China; and Algeria, where the French have been battling a rebellion.

Temporarily Shelved

The tensions of the old year were temporarily shelved by the holidayers.

But troops of the Western Allies and the United Nations were on watch, keeping the cold war cold.

American soldiers at the barbed wire barricades marking the Iron Curtain in Europe had hot turkey dinners brought to their posts. In other parts of Europe U.S. servicemen entertained 75,000 orphans, refugees and hospital patients.

In Communist-ruled East Berlin Julius Cardinal Doepfner preached a sermon attacking the Red regime in his first appearance since he was named a cardinal of the Roman Catholic Church.

Troops Hear Message

U.S. troops in Morocco heard a Christmas message from Dr. Edwin T. Dahlberg, president of the National Council of Churches. He told them to strive for an inner peace and added: "From this inner peace there could come the wider peace of the world for which all nations now wait."

The Roman Catholic archbishop of New York, Francis Cardinal Spellman, celebrated Christmas Masses for U.S. forces in Germany. He said: "More than we realize do we need the help of God for only God can quell the malice of his enemies and ours."

U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold paid his annual

Stork as Busy as Santa, Brings Nine Yule Babies

Who said Christmas was Santa's day?

He had to share billing in Marion yesterday with the stork, who delivered nine Christmas babies at Marion General Hospital.

It was the largest number of Christmas babies in a number of years, hospital officials reported. Six were born there last Christ only two on Dec. 25, 1956, and three on that day in 1955.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Walker of LaRue, were the first Marionites to welcome a new Christmas arrival. A daughter was born to Mrs. Walker at 4:01 a.m.

THE OTHER Yuletide babies arrived as follows:

A son to Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Miller of 192 E. Farming St. at 4:32 a.m.; a son to Mr. and Mrs. Cephus Coleman of 273 Bellevue Ave. at 8:38 a.m.; a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sherman of 589 Silver St. at 10:16 a.m.; a son to Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Temple of 258 Fies Ave. at 12:50 p.m.; a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Powers of 1140 Cheney Ave. at 3:17 p.m.; a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Miller of 269 Chestnut St. at 4:50 p.m.; a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Cutarelli of 398 Cherry St. at 11:19 p.m., and a son to Mr. and Mrs. William Winters of Cleveland at 11:51 p.m.

Weatherwise, Christmas day was nearly perfect. Following Wednesday's high of 35, a one-half inch blanket of new snow and an overnight low of 23, Thursday dawned clear and cold, with a bright sun prevailing most of the day.

The mercury rose to a peak reading of 28, then plunged to an overnight low of 9 above zero, as a full moon lit the countryside.

MOTORISTS in Marion County were on their best behavior Wednesday and Thursday, in spite of slick roads, and not an accident was reported by Marion post highway patrolmen. A total of 16 mishaps was investigated by city police over the two-day period, however, with one person hospitalized. And, one accident was reported to the sheriff.

For the county's needy, Christmas, 1958, turned out to be a relatively good one. Mrs. Howard E. Williams, chairman of the Junior Service Guild's Give-a-Christmas program, reported this morning that approximately 500 families and individuals were helped.

"We took care of everyone on our list, plus a considerable number who did not ask for assistance until the final day," she noted.

Mrs. Williams attributed much of the Guild's success to the enthusiastic cooperation of the city's businesses, service clubs and oth-

Would Overlook Lake Michigan

Indiana Plans To Build Huge Statue of Lincoln

WASHINGTON (NANA) — Plans are afoot to construct a gigantic statue of Abraham Lincoln, taller than the Statue of Liberty, on Indiana dunes overlooking Lake Michigann.

The statue would portray Lincoln the way he looked as a Hoosier schoolboy—a slim teen-ager in rough country clothes, lugging a stack of books under one arm.

The boy's other arm, raised aloft, would contain a powerful electric beacon whose rays would shine across the lake by night—a symbol of American freedom to ships of all nations that ply the lake and the St. Lawrence Seaway.

The project was disclosed by Roy T. Combs, former Indiana state auditor who now heads the Indiana Lincoln Sesquicentennial Commission. The 150th anniversary of Lincoln's birth will be celebrated during 1959.

Born in Kentucky, Lincoln moved to Indiana with his family when he was seven years old and lived near Gentryville in Spencer County until he was 14.

"We Hoosiers believe that Abe's schooling and experiences in Indiana are what made him great," Combs said. "A statue of him facing north would be a national shrine that would inspire sailors on the lakes and draw millions of tourists to Indiana."

Combs stressed that the statue project at present "is only in the preliminary thinking stage." Obtaining the necessary land on the Lake Michigan shorefront and raising funds are the main problems," he said.

"We are confident that millions and millions of Americans would chip in to help," Combs said. "If there were enough of them a few Lincoln pennies apiece would be enough."

He said the preliminary plans call for a statue "Somewhat higher than the Statue of Liberty," with a freedom beacon "more poerful than any searchlight."

It would be built "to last forever," he said—probably combining metal castings and heavy masonry.

The Statue of Liberty, presented to the United States in 1884 as a gift from France, stands 151 feet 1 inch from base to torch. Sheeted with copper, it weighs 225 tons. Its cost by the time it was finished was about $600,000.

Combs and his fellow planners propose that the "Lincoln of the Dunes" should be hollow, like the Statue of Liberty, so visitors could climb through it and look out across the lake.

BISHOP INJURED IN ACCIDENT. A top-ranking official of the Methodist Church, Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, 67, has his pulse taken by nurse Jane Caffrey at Roosevelt Hospital in New York. His left arm was fractured and his head cut when he was dragged by a taxicab in New York. He had just left the cab and had unknowingly closed the door on his overcoat. The bishop and his wife had come to New York from Washington, D. C., to spend Christmas with their son. (UPI Telephoto)

City Council Approves Purchase of Snowplow

WATERTOWN, Conn. (AP)—The city fathers say it's time to replace one of the town's snowplows.

The plow was purchased in 1928 and was second-hand then.

Police Reports

Charles Sedlock of 409 Clinton St. reported Wednesday that four hubcaps were taken from his car while it was parked at his residence Tuesday night.

—:—

Charles Arnett of 835 N. State St. reported early today that three hubcaps valued at $12 were stolen from his car. He said they were taken while the car was parked in front of his residence or at a N. Main St. drive-in restaurant.

Emma Silvers, a waitress at the Twin Sandwich Shop on S. State St., reported Wednesday afternoon that two youths had stolen her purse from a shelf at the rear of the restaurant. She said the purse contained $12, her driver's license and the keys to her car among other items.

Theft of a box of Christmas decorations from the rear of the Houpt Memorial works at 132 S. High St. was reported Wednesday. The decorations were valued at $5.

Man Hurt in Fall

A 41-year-old Emerson Ave. man who slipped and fell on Euclid Ave. Wednesday afternoon is reported in good condition today at General Hospital.

Sheriff's deputies said Orwan W. Vance of 580 Emerson Ave. first told them he had been hit by a car. He was rushed to the hospital in a Hughes-Hyll ambulance escorted by a sheriff's car. Deputies said he later told them he had merely fallen to the pavement.

Examining physicians found no serious injuries.

Idea Was Fine But Paint Job Won't Rub Off

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—H. H. Scott is rightfully proud of the Christmas present his wife gave him—but he's not showing it off just yet.

The gift was a shiny red sports car which Mrs. Scott left with the dealer for Christmas delivery.

She got a wonderful idea. Why not paint a yuletide greeting on the auto in white paint that would wash off?

Mrs. Scott bought a can of paint and dashed off to the dealer's. She had just finished painting "Love to Harold" all over the side of the car when a salesman strolled up to see how she was doing. Too late, of course. It was not water paint.

The car will have to be sanded down and repainted.

Stolen Car Recovered

A state highway patrolman's car, stolen from in front of his residence in Delaware a few days ago, was found abandoned in Marion Wednesday night.

John Marshall of 420 Forest Lawn Blvd. noticed the car parked near his residence and called police. A check on the car turned up the fact it was owned by Patrolman Earl R. Houser of the Delaware post. He told police his wife had been using the car and had parked it in front of the house with the keys in it just a few minutes before it was taken. The car was returned to Patrolman Houser.

Student Falls Through Ice in Lake, Drowns

PORT CLINTON, Ohio (AP)—A student at Bowling Green State University drowned in Lake Erie early today when he and a companion fell through the ice on which they were walking about 300 feet off shore from Catawba Point.

Drowned was James House, 18, son of Mrs. Marion House of 414 Groghan St., Fremont. His body was not recovered.

Charles Kindt, 29, of 323 S. Buchanan St., Fremont, managed to crawl to safety. Following unsuccessful efforts to save House, Kindt summoned the sheriff's office and the Marblehead Coast Guard station.

House and Kindt had started to walk across the frozen lake to Put-In-Bay, about four miles away to visit some of Kindt's relatives. They fell through a crack, which was covered by a thin skim of ice. The ice elsewhere in the area is about eight inches thick.

Galion Woman Suffers Concussion in Mishap

GALION — A fall suffered by a Galion woman resulted in a cerebral concussion, Galion Community Hospital officials reported this morning.

Two other persons were treated Thursday for cuts. James Enders, 11, of Orange St., son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Enders, had five stitches taken in his thumb after he cut it on a new pen knife. On Your Mark, Eat!

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — When Melvin Hughes and Harvey Howlett enter a restaurant the waitresses roll up their sleeves. The two stage an eating contest with the tab going to the first to stop packing it away. Hughes won a recent match by chomping through a hot roast beef dinner with potatoes, gravy and bread; one hot turkey dinner with the same; four cheeseburgers; one bacon, lettuce and tomato sandwich; a side order of fried potatoes; one large soft drink; two glasses of milk and apple pie.

2 Stores Hit by Fire

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A $200,000 fire destroyed two of the 20 stores at Norton Center, a shopping center at the intersection of U. S. 224 and U. S. 21. Firemen from four communities, including some from Akron, fought the blaze Christmas Eve and into the early hours Christmas morning before it was contained.

Bible Words for Today

I CORINTHIANS 1:3—"Grace be unto you, and peace, from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ."(King James)

* * *

Grace. Here is one of the key words of the faith. Yet, it is an elusive word, and one which today is not generally understood.

It is possible to arrive at some understanding of this word of power by considering its antonym, "disgrace." Everyone knows what disgrace is. In one of his sonnets, Shakespeare wrote, "When in disgrace with fortune and men's eyes, I all alone beweep my outcast state." Alone, outcast—such is always the feeling of one who is in disgrace.

Grace, then, means restoration, being welcomed back into fellowship and communion with God. The prodigal son, he who had been in deepest disgrace, found at last the joy, the peace, the serenity of restoration. He returned to the grace of his Father's house.

Such restoration is always offered to those who in faith seek the "Father's house," and they come to know the truth of His words, "My grace is sufficient for thee."

Burglar Enjoys Comfort In Virginia Man's Home

VIENNA, Va. (AP)—Charles C. Robinson, director of the Northern Virginia Planning Commission, doesn't know who is breaking into his home but he knows a lot about him. The intruder is a man, smokes, likes sports, watches TV, enjoys comfort and afternoon naps, takes showers, is curious about religious objects and is extremely punctual. Robinson finds his alarm clock set for 5:45 p.m. which is just half an hour before he regularly returns from work.

Seven Mishaps Investigated in Crawford Area

BUCYRUS — State highway patrolmen here reported an injury-free holiday, although seven accidents occurred Wednesday. Four drivers were arrested.

Three cars were damaged in a crash on Crawford County Rd. 13 about four miles east of here at about 8 a.m. Patrolmen arrested Albetta Burns, 59, of Bucyrus on a charge of stopping on the roadway. They said an eastbound car driven by Gerald O. Pinney, 57, of Bucyrus slid into the front of a westbound car driven by Alfred Korejwa, 41, of near Crestline and then hit the rear of the Burns car.

At 8:50 a.m., cars driven by Earl A. Peachy, 26, of near Ludlow, Ill., and William H. Barth, 49, of Upper Sandusky, were damaged when they collided on icy Rt. 30-N four miles west of here.

LeGrande C. Gibbs, 27, of Mansfield was arrested on an unsafe operation charge when the eastbound car he was driving slid off the north side of Rt. 30-N, bounced off a guard rail and careened into a mail box on the south side of the road. The accident happened at 2:45 p.m. about 1½ miles east of here, patrolmen said.

William C. Evans, 71, of Cincinnati was charged with reckless operation following a three-car crash at 2:05 p.m. on State Rt. 4 about 6½ miles south of Attica. Damaged in the crash were cars driven by Evans, Alice B. Terry, 40, of Bucyrus and Mac H. Wade of near Carrothers, O.

Patrolmen arrested 17-year-old Bruce McDougal of near Galion after the car he was driving slid into the rear of one driven by Frank E. Egner, 62, of near Findlay at 2:30 p.m. on Rt. 19 four miles southeast of here. The youth was charged with unsafe operation.

Southbound cars driven by Paul D. Margraff, 16, of near Bucyrus and John Willhelm, 33, of near Sycamore were damaged at 4:24 p.m. on Rt. 262 about three miles north of here. Patrolmen said Margraff attempted a left turn as Willhelm was passing.

At 8:30 p.m. a westbound car driven by Julian Trosper, 39, of Galion slammed into a culvert on the north side of Rt. 30-N just east of Galion.

Postal rates between Washington, D.C., and the West Coast on the Overland Mail in 1858, was 10 cents a letter.

Who Says It Can't Be Done?

We poor, pushed-around taxpayers must enjoy the Christmas present of a White House balanced budget while we can. It won't last long.

There isn't a Democrat in Congress, except Sen. Byrd, who thinks the government can balance income and outgo in the 12 months beginning next July 1—the budget the White House and Congress will be wrangling about for the next six months.

There are Republicans in Congress who will talk as if they think it can be done, but they don't really believe it. They hand it to President Eisenhower for getting on the record for a balanced budget and pinning down a point of balance—77 billion dollars—but they, too, say it can't be done.

The reason is obvious to them, if not quite so obvious to some of us.

TO THEM it is as plain as the red ink on the federal government's books that enormously powerful pressure blocks, like military spenders, farmers, welfare-staters, veterans and foreign-aiders are not going to let the government curtail its spending. They want more spending, not less.

All the federal jobholders want more, too. The dam-builders, highway-builders and river-deepeners want more. Everybody wants more. Even the few who are trying to taper off on the spending spree want more because what they have keeps shrinking in value, thanks to inflation which is caused by the inability of the federal government to withstand the onslaught of its spenders.

That is why all the political realists in Washington know the budget is not going to be balanced, regardless of what President Eisenhower has recommended and regardless of what most taxpayers say they want. They will not try to stop the merry-go-round.

The trouble is that the taxpayers, themselves, are spenders. They squawk about taxes while beseeching the federal government to ladle out funds for everything from airports to xylophones.

If the budget is going to be balanced, they say, it must be done at the expense of that so-and-so who lives somewhere else and does something else. Any politician who dares to lay a finger on their pet appropriation will have his hand chopped off.

There are, no doubt, U.S. taxpayers who are not members of any spending block—who are not trying to twist a penny out of Washington for anything, not even in the form of a debatable tax-deductible item on their income tax return. But whoever they are, such as they are, they are not organized. They have no lobby in Washington. No one is afraid of them at the polls.

President Eisenhower has said what is undeniably true. If the spenders would hold back a little, the United States could balance its budget at 77 billion dollars next fiscal year, instead of running still further into debt. He has left Congress holding the budget bag, which is as it should be.

ALL THE POLITICIANS are in Congress anyway. They keep bemoaning the fact the President is not one of their own kind, meaning he is so naive he doesn't understand why the budget cannot be balanced when so many greedy Guses are yammering for more gravy. It would be political suicide to turn them away.

It will be financial suicide if they aren't turned away, but politicians do not worry about long-term effects. That will be something for historians to deal with when they report the decline and fall of the democracy that cracked up "on the rocks of a loose fiscal policy," just as the late Franklin D. Roosevelt said it would before he, too, became "liberal" with other people's money.

This Could Be Embarrassing

On Jan. 1, a favorite dream of Americans may start to turn into a nightmare when France, Germany, Italy, Belgium, Luxembourg and the Netherlands slash tariffs 10 per cent.

They are the pioneers of the European Common Market, outgrowth of the European Coal and Steel Community and forerunner of European free trade and eventual economic and political unification.

The eventual aim is to make Europe as much like the United States as possible by removing internal tariff barriers and agreeing on common external duties for all products. And that is the potential source of a nightmare for U.S. producers.

Though it is possible for U.S. capital to go abroad and become part of the new setup, it is not possible for U.S. producers to follow the capital, because producers are people. To the extent that European countries succeed in trading more freely with one another inside common tariff barriers designed to keep out unwanted exports, U.S. producers can be greviously hurt by the loss of European export markets.

Yet, European economic unification has been a fixed policy of the United States. Is this inconsistent? Or is it another instance of the price of progress?

In the measured view, it must be called part of the price of progress. The United States is willing to take its chances on a long-term adjustment to European economic unification for the sake of the progress that unification would represent.

It can justify its support for the idea of unification by its belief in the necessity of strengthening Europe's economic foundations, to keep European civilization from falling prey to Russian expanionism.

This has been the long-range view of European unification. Even before World War II, it was obvious that some kind of unification would be achieved sometime. After World War II, the idea materialized in 1952, with formation of the European Coal and Steel Community in midsummer of 1952. Its members were the same six nations that now have laid the groundwork for a common market.

They are to cut tariffs among themselves progressively for 12 years or more, at the same time liberalizing important quotas.

Barring the possibility they may isolate themselves from other European countries, they are expected to be the pioneers of an idea that will be embraced eventually by all European countries—a dream that has been recurring for hundreds of years in Europe and which has been encouraged intensively in U.S. foreign policy for a full decade.

Even if it becomes a nightmare for U.S. producers, the logic of European unification is so obvious it cannot be denied.

When at Last It's All Over

Americans, famed throughout the world for the delight they take in rushing around, even though they complain about it, have a universal point of view on Christmas Night:

They do not begrudge the effort that was spent to make it a Merry Christmas.

It was worthwhile. They are bushed but happy.

None of the effort was wasted—not even the time spent in putting Christmas wrappings on packages that were ripped apart in a few seconds. The wrappings were appreciated.

Everything was appreciated — the decorations that householders and business places used to mark the holidays, the special displays in shop windows, the hours spent in addressing Christmas greetings and licking stamps for envelopes, the patient efforts of the truly devout celebrants who went out of their way to lend a helping hand to others.

There were some who may have done nothing more extraordinary than feel a little kindlier toward their fellowmen, because the Spirit of Christmas is contagious and they caught a little of it. They appreciated the music, the reverence, the merry-making and the good will.

That is the magic of Christmas — the warm glow that suffuses itself through the hearts of men for a few days each year—the sense of something that was worthwhile—the feeling of privilege for having had some part, even though small, in making the lives of men a little happier and a great deal more purposeful than they would have been without the inspiration of Christianity.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Joram was one of the shepherds who heard the words "Fear not, for behold I bring you tidings of great joy." He, too, hurried to the manger, but could not get very close because of the great throng. Nor had he brought a gift. After falling on his knees in worship, Joram started back to his flock.

"You're not leaving now," said a fellow shepherd. "This is a night of adoration."

"It is wonderful," said Joram, but there are many here. Joseph and Mary and the Babe will not be lonely now. I can do little."

"A strange fellow," thought all the shepherds.

A week later Joram returned to Bethlehem. Although the star shone brightly, the road was dreary now and cheerless. The Magi and shepherds had gone.

"I was here with the others," said Joram. "I thought I might be of more comfort now."

"You are indeed thoughtful," said Joseph who told him that he and Mary and the Child must flee to Egypt from the wrath of Herod.

"I can help you get ready," said Joram simply. And he took Mary's sandals and warmed them against the wool of a lamb.

He removed the chill from her robe by pressing it against the warm body of an ox. Joram in many other ways aided the preparations for the flight. Suddenly the "light that was almost beyond endurance" reappeared in the manger, and Joram saw Mary and Jesus in a radiance such as few had beheld. Then seeing all the presents he said sadly, "I forgot to bring a gift."

"You have brought the greater gift," said Mary, smiling. "It is the gift of enduring love and lasting solicitude."

"It is not much," Joram said.

"It is everything and particularly blessed," said Mary, for she knew the radiant glow of Christmas would fade too swiftly from the hearts of many and that the true adoration would be from those who returned to the crib in the weeks, months and years following the silent Holy Night.

Deputy Premier Mikoyan visits U.S. shortly. No red mat will be rolled out. The reception will have overtones of frost but not exactly a deepfreeze.

He will probably make TV, the front pages and the loud-speakers even if he doesn't get a waltz with Ike. What's he after?

One rumor is that he represents Khrushchev in a request for a return bout with Sen. Humphrey. Another is that he bears a note from Nikita to the senator asking, "Just what was it you said? I remember only the first four hours."

Something Got Off the Ground!

Mission of Peace

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON

Somehow they can't break down the Christmas spirit altogether, even in Moscow. There is something irrepressible about the way people feel at Christmas time — an urge to forget the frictions of the hour and the antagonisms of the era and to let the divine force for good in the world express itself.

Lawrence

Whether it be in the slave states behind the Iron Curtain where tyrannical rulers have proclaimed themselves as atheists, or in those areas of the world where only lip service is paid to Christianity or other religions, the symbolism of Christmas is of a world at peace.

What keeps the people of every continent in a state of constant fear and worry? Is it merely the existence of weapons so destructive that whole countries can be destroyed in a matter of hours? It couldn't be the armament in itself, for, ever since the beginning of international wars, the abhorrence of what Lloyd George once called "organized murder" has been universal. It is the menace of autocratic government which today as in 1939 and in 1917 has made free peoples feel unsafe.

THE STRUGGLE to win freedom is perennial but even when a "republic" is formed and the ties with a mother country are severed, the danger of exploitation by one man or a clique still persists.

Peace on earth is the ideal toward which man is constantly striving, but the biggest barrier in his path is the unwillingness of the individual to make the sacrifices for freedom that must be made if autocratic government is to be eliminated and a people's government substituted.

The inspiration to sacrifice comes sometimes after a period of agony when tragic developments strain the tolerance of the people to the breaking point. The Soviet Union, for example, shows no outward sign of its inner discontent but there is evidence in the behavior of the Soviet rulers themselves that they are sensitive to the undercurrents of unrest which are arising in a nation of 200,000,000 people who are denied the standards of living that prevail in the free countries of the world.

EVERY pronouncement from the Kremlin on internal policy indicates some awareness of the protests of the populace. The threat of an external war is constantly emphasized so as to maintain unity within the Soviet Union but this maneuver is of doubtful value. Plenty of information about the peaceful purposes of the free countries does seep in through the radio and through word-of-mouth channels based on what travelers report.

The mission of the Western countries is to keep alive the spirit of freedom. That's why Christmas is a welcome season in world affairs. It affords an opportunity to tell of the celebrations throughout the world. Messages of good will do percolate. The fact that there are some churches still permitted to function inside the Soviet Union is of transcendent importance. It is the biggest single light that keeps burning among the skeptics who deny the authority of the supreme being.

Fortunately, in some of the Satellite countries like Poland and Hungary and Czechoslovakia, the adherence to Christianity through the Roman Catholic churches continues among young and old. The strength of these intangibles cannot be fully measured at the moment, but their influence remains as one of the basic factors of encouragement to those who believe that ultimately emancipation from tyranny must come.

WHAT CAN THE average American do? There are many manifestations at Christmas time that carry world-wide significance. The citizens of this and other free countries by their many acts of generosity can participate in the good will that America expresses toward the rest of the world. The President's messages of peace are beamed by radio everywhere. Again and again it must be made clear that the people of the United States want peace and bear no ill will toward the people of any country in the world. Communication from people to people represents the best hope of world peace.

Christmas affords an opportunity for better communication, also, between individuals — the chance to repair the breaks in human relations, to foster the spirit of reconciliation between man and man, and to bring happiness and peace of mind to those who have strayed from the teachings of the greatest teacher of all times.

No Longer Low Man

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

The writer is no longer low man on the Hollywood totem pole.

"In the old days a writer was kind of like a guy in uniform before Pearl Harbor," said Daniel Taradash. "He was afraid to go into the best hotels.

HAL BOYLE

"But now he is a person of importance in the industry. Everybody at the moment is paying him lip service. Production heads are getting the idea that writers can do more than just sit at a typewriter. Their advice is sought. They are now allowed—even welcomed—on the set."

Taradash, who now also directs and produces films, is currently one of the highest paid writers in the field.

THE FILM writing minimum is now $350 a week. But Taradash's typewriter is now so highly regarded that he can demand and get a "big chunk more than $100,000", for writing a picture, plus a share of the profits.

Taradash, a Harvard law graduate, rang the bell in 1938 in his first assignment in Hollywood as co-author of the script for "Golden Boy."

Dan, a pleasant-faced man of 45 with thinning hair, made movie history when he insisted on getting a percentage of the profits for adapting "From Here to Eternity," a script that won him an Oscar.

A SLOW AND painstaking craftsman, Taradash has turned out only about a dozen movies in 20 years. He takes from six months to a year to finish a script.

"During the percolating period I may sit for two or three weeks and not write a line," he said. "In the old Hollywood days that would have been unthinkable.

"A writer then was supposed to write—not think."

"I also have another unusual clause in my contract—that they can't see the script at all until I complete it, unless I choose to let them," he said.

"You can get murdered if you let a producer have a third of the script, while you're still working on the rest. He can start picking it to pieces. Writers can easily be confused bulldozed and talked out of an idea."

Taradash doesn't share the idea that Hollywood stifles creative talent, and that a man is only as good as his last picture.

"It's an optimistic place," he said. "They like success and like to remember it. Your flops and the stumbling blocks of your career they tend to overlook and forget.

"That attitude is one of the pleasantest things about Hollywood."

GRIN AND BEAR IT By George Lichty

"Perhaps job insurance, health insurance, and old age insurance is giving you too much assurance, young man! . . . Remember, THIS chance you're taking isn't covered! . . ."

Mistaken Identity

By Truman Twill

It is the season when someone you never saw before may barge up in a crowded room, flash the recognition signal and bellow, "I'll bet you don't remember who I am!"

There is no sure-fire way to deal with this problem, due to laws that make it illegal to shoot firearms in densely populated places.

But anything is better than making a guessing game of it.

You can say, pretending to look straight through the intruder at someone standing a short distance away:

"You win the bet, Mac, but this is not the payoff counter. Anyway, I want to say hello to my old tentmate from the Boer War, Sir Anthony Twiggs DSC with oak-leaf cluster and Croix de Guerre with sherred egg. I have not seen Sir Anthony since we hunted crocodile on the Pitzicomatose River in the salt marshes of Inner Despondency. If you will excuse me for just a moment. . ." Then leave the clown standing there with his words in his teeth.

Or you can say, looking straight at the pest, "Of course I know who you are. Everybody knows who you are. You are the great vampire bat that keeps sucking the blood of little babies and has been baffling the best brains of electronic deduction for the last 10 years. There is a price on your head, batty old bongo, which is a sound effect to conceal the actual sound you are going to hear next, which will be a chair broken over your skull unless you get out of range pronto—and goodby.

Or you can play it sweet, depending on the sex of the intruder, and say, with a coy downward glance:

"I was so afraid you wouldn't remember me, light of my life. Ever since I saw you last, my heart has been aching with wistfulness. Oh to relive those glorious moments, when you and I walked into the sunset together, heads held high in noble resolve to bring honor to our what-you-call-ems or die trying. By the way, how long have you been dead, or is there something the matter with the lights in here? And what do you hear from what-you-may-callem?"

Or you could cut the palaver and say, taking out a dollar and handing it to the pest:

"Making sucker bets isn't an honest living, but here's the payoff. I do not know who you are. The question never has come up until now. I promise you if it ever comes up again, I'll see my psychiatrist thereafter on the same day I visit my dentist. Please take your winnings and run along. I suppose if it's legal to bet on race horses it should not be a criminal offense to bet on another man's memory."

Or, if the idea is not to show rancor, it is reasonable to say:

"All betting aside, you're right. I could stall and say I remember your face, but that would be a lie. I could stab at it and waste our time, but time is too precious. Suppose you tell me who you are, and I'll return the favor, because there's always a chance you've made a mistake. Then, being sure of each other, we can quit sparring and bluffing. It will make this a more pleasant and possibly even a memorable experience."

Or in case words fail, which they sometimes do, merely turn away and flip a cigaret, a toothpick from a hors d'oeuvre, an olive seed, or a crumpled napkin in the intruder's direction. If the pest persists, coo at him: "Sorry. My mistake. Thought you were an ashtray. Now that my error has been brought to attention, what are you anyway?"

Or there's the seeing-eye bit. Grope for the canine companion who isn't there and shout: "Dog overboard. Man the rafts." The intruder then will have to tell who he is, which is what all intruders with decent instincts do without prompting.

More Power Politics

By Raymond Moley

A conflict much more intense and widespread than the Hells Canyon controversy is rising in the Northwest.

Again it seems to be a basic issue between a broad invasion of resource development, notably hydroelectric operations, by the federal government and the (policy) initiated by the Eisenhower administration five years ago — that of partnership among local agencies, private companies, and the federal government.

A good many years ago, the Army Engineers prepared and submitted a master plan for the development of the Columbia River and its tributaries.

This report is known familiarly as "308." In 1949 a revision of that plan was prepared and submitted to Congress.

This report is in eight volumes which occupy 18 inches on my shelves. It is replete with descriptive material, statistics, maps, and the like.

IT IS A MOST illuminating and comprehensive treatment of the multitudnous human uses that are possible from the control of water in the agricultural and industrial activities of a great and growing section of the country.

Now the Army Engineers have produced a further revision, equally comprehensive, which takes into account the many public and private developments in the past nine years.

At the same time, Sen. Neuberger has prepared a bill for the consideration of the new Congress for the creation of a "Columbia River Development Corporation."

His bill (S. 3114) would create an agency which, according to Neuberger, would have "the responsibility for and means of supplying the electricity needs of all power consumers and industries in the region who may request it."

The bill now under consideration is a somewhat revised edition of bills introduced in the last Congress on which there were hearings in May and June.

Regional hearings were held by Neuberger in various places in the Northwest earlier this month.

This proposal, while considerably different in some details, is implicitly a new version of a plan for a Columbia Valley Administration sponsored by the Interior Department during the Truman administration.

THERE WAS a long fight then, and the project died. That proposal was to a large extent modeled after the TVA and would have set up a sort of super government over the states in the Columbia Valley.

The idea has never died as an objective of public power politicians. Hence, the bill has substantially revived the old fight.

This conflict, which will be bitter and protracted, will center about the differences in the new version of the Army-revised "308" and the new plan for a valley corporation.

Sen. Morse has been in an epistolatory brawl with his colleague and former friend Neuberger. Never have two United States senators so thoroughly laundered linen in public since ante-bellum days.

But in their opposition to the plans of the Army Engineers they are joined as never before.

Water in this case seems to be much thicker than bad blood between them. Both have attacked this scientific study by an agency which has always kept itself free from political entanglements.

All of which promises that politics in the Northwest will not be in recess between elections.

Includes Standby President

Small Secret Committee Awaits Emergency Call

By VICTOR RIESEL

Despite the Reds' rocket-rattling, only propaganda bombs are expected to be bursting in air for a long time. That is the decision made by the three, possibly four - man secret committee which would run civilian America while the military fight a future war. If any shooting were expected over Berlin, President Eisenhower would have summoned this supreme committee — known only as "emergency designees" — for the most guarded talk the White House has held in years.

VICTOR RIESEL

Among these powerful anonymous men, whose identity is held more secret than our nuclear bomb strength, is the man who is, in effect, the standby President of the United States.

So carefully hidden are the identity and functions of this man that even his war-time title as top non-military coordinator is classified. When he and the rest of his small group are called suddenly to the side door of the White House, those who know they're coming will know that war cannot be far behind.

UNTIL THEN — relax — which is something these men are not doing at this moment despite their decision that Khrushchev wants no war now. These men are the tip of a pyramid which keeps expanding at the base like an animated commercial.

Under them is a growing National Defense Executive Reserve of citizens who will be swung out of their posts on emergency orders and sped to secret standby governmental offices — some of them in caves — if word comes of an imminent Russian attack.

Or the survivors will be rushed to what remains of the federal departments, if the attack comes before the news flash.

There are now some 2,500 such civilian reservists. Some 1,700 have been cleared for security work by our intelligence forces.

After clearance, they get a certificate of avilability and a special pin which is recognized by others in this little known civilian high command. These men are referred to as the "fully designated."

THERE ARE 486 others being processed and the government now is negotiating with another 386. More are being sought each day.

Only last week the special federal agency, the Office of Civilian Defense Mobilization, began extending its executive reserve from the departments in Washington to special regions across the U.S.

The 2,500 designees will be used by the federal government. They will go into the Commerce Dept., the Pentagon, the Interior Dept. and other divisions. In the event of attack, they will reorganize whatever enemy bombs have not destroyed.

They then will administer the emergency divisions charged with freezing rents, wages and prices and supplying minerals, materials and manpower to keep American civilian as well as military production at whatever will be possible top speed.

Most of this rehearsal for an emergency we hope will never hit us has been smooth — except for the fact that almost all the brain-power and technical organizational skill of American labor has been by-passed.

There are only eight labor men in the Executive Reserve of 2,500. Seven of these are under the civilian and mobilization office. The other has been attached to the Labor Dept.

There is, of course, considerable chagrin inside labor over this seeming snub.

MONTHS AGO, AFL-CIO president George Meany dispatched a list of 100 top labor leaders to the Labor Dept. for clearance. But a penny - watching budget division has been unenthusiastic over spending money to process the labor executives.

At the most a name check will run to an average $100 each. Sometimes $50 will do it. So, for $10,000 the Labor Dept. has had to delay processing the labor leaders. The department would have to use budget funds. It cannot allocate any of its own.

The labor leaders believe they can contribute to developing emergency production plans. They feel they have organizational ability to match the others in the Reserve.

They feel it would be adding insult to injury to be called in after the personnel chart is set — and then only to tell the federal agencies where there are skilled plumbers or electricians.

If it ever comes, it will be everybody's emergency. So let each give according to his ability.

Talks Resume In New York's News Blackout

Negotiators Again Try To Settle Strike Idling 9 Major Publications

NEW YORK (AP)—Negotiators return to the bargaining table today in an effort to restore peace in the city's newspaper industry, throttled by a 17-day-old deliverers' strike.

Presses at the city's nine major dailies remain idle as federal mediators sit down again with representatives of the striking deliverymen and publishers of the nine papers.

About 15,000 of the papers' 20,000 employes have been furloughed. Many are members of nine other newspaper unions, all AFL-CIO, which are not supporting the independent Deliverers' Union.

The papers closed down Dec. 11, two days after the deliverers' struck. Another 5,000 employes are still on the job on a standby basis.

The deliverers' membership turned down a publishers' offer of $7 a week over two years — a formula accepted by the Newspaper Guild of New York.

The deliverers have been demanding a wage raise plus a shorter work week, an extra holiday and an absentee replacement system.

Basic pay under the deliverers' old contract, which expired Dec. 7, was $103.82 for a 40-hour week.

After the dinner William McPherson conducted a short business meeting which opened with a prayer by the Rev. Bruce Kriete. A gift was presented to the teacher, Mrs. Elmer Bricker, from the class. The following officers were elected for the new year: Clyde Beckel, president; Isaac Bumgartner, vice president; Mrs. William Winters, secretary and treasurer, and Earnest Gast, assistant secretary and treasurer.

FEW PRIVILEGES

IONA, N. S. (AP) — Minutes of a 1910 Victoria County council meeting found here included a resolution banning motor vehicles from the highways except on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays.

Weddings

The Waldo Methodist Church was the scene of the wedding Dec. 12 of Miss Patricia Anne Mohat, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Mohat of Waldo, to Harry Bernard Hardacre. He is the son of James W. Hardacre of Marion and Mrs. Betty Lorenzo of Detroit, Mich.

Officiating for the candlelight ceremony at 7:30 o'clock in the evening was the pastor, the Rev. A. A. Turner. Decorating the altar were lighted candles held in two seven branch candelabra and a large basket of white gladioli. Lighted candles also were in the windows of the church. Nuptial music for the ceremony was by Dave Richards of Marion, organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a ballerina length gown of cloud blue silk taffeta styled with a deep sweetheart neckline and bracelet length sleeves. The extremely bouffant skirt was worn over several crinoline petticoats. Complementing her costume was a cloud blue lattice braid cloche trimmed with rhinestones and holding a shoulder length veil. She carried a white orchid encircled with ivy on a white Bible which was showered with pink and white streamers.

Matron of honor and only attendant for the bride was Mrs. John Fetter of Marion. She wore a street length sheath dress of navy blue chiffon over taffeta with a V-shaped neckline and styled with a blouson back. She combined with it a blue and white flowered hat and elbow length white gloves set with pearls. Her bouquet was of pink and white carnations tied with streamers.

Ronald L. Conroy of Marion served as best man for the bridegroom.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Mohat chose a two-piece dress of blue Italian silk with black accessories and a corsage of pink and white carnations.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents where the table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake encircled at the base with pink and white mums. Also on the table were lighted tapers in crystal candelabra. Serving the guests were Mrs. Jim Hamilton, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Fetter.

When the couple left on a short wedding trip through southern Ohio, Mrs. Hardacre was wearing an aqua sheath dress of wool paisley print with black and white accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Hardacre was graduated from Waldo High School in 1955 and attended Bliss Business College in Columbus and the Marion Business College. She is employed at the Marion Engineer Depot. Mr. Hardacre, a graduate of Harding High School in 1954, is employed with the Whirlpool Corp., Marion Division. They are residing at 308½ Willow St. in Marion.

Lodge Activities

A Christmas basket was prepared for a member when Sosnowski Rebekah Lodge 164 met Tuesday night in the IOOF hall. Mrs. Virginia Black, noble grand, was in charge. Christmas carols were played during the evening.

Installation of new officers will be held on Jan. 13 with Mrs. Bertha Burrey serving as installing officer. A meeting of the Past Noble Grands Club will be held Jan. 7 at the home of Mrs. Edna Gunder, 211 Windsor St., with a potluck dinner to be served at noon.

SURPRISE CHRISTMAS PRESENT. Biggest surprise on Christmas morning was this Piper Pacer four-place airplane that Mrs. A. J. Daack gave to her husband, Dr. A. J. Daack. Buying it on the spur of the moment Christmas eve, Mrs. Daack had the plane towed to the Daack front lawn in Portland, Ore., and there it stood when the sleepy doctor awoke. Here he tests the propeller. Neither Mr. nor Mrs. Daack can fly. (UPI Telephoto)

Shoots for 5½ Million Sales

Auto Industry Bids for '59 Comeback

By DAVID J. WILKIE
A.P. Automotive Writer

DETROIT (AP) — For all but one of the nation's auto makers 1958 was the worst year in recent automotive industry history.

It was a year that saw a decline of more than 1¾ million car assemblies and a retail sales drop of nearly 1¼ million units from the preceding year's volume. The year brought losses or profit cuts for all makers except American Motors.

American Motors, riding high on a bulging demand for smaller, lower priced cars, built and sold nearly twice as many vehicles in 1958 as it did the preceding year.

When the 1958 production and sales are finally tabulated they probably will come to nearly 4⅛ million domestic car assemblies and about 4,780,000 retail deliveries. The latter figure would include about 300,000 imported car sales.

For the year ahead sales are expected to number 5½ million U. S. cars plus up to 400,000 imported cars.

Outstanding events of 1958 included:

Expiration of union labor contracts and months-long negotiations leading to new agreements.

Top - heavy inventories that brought sharp production cutbacks and were further leveled off by work stoppages that followed the new labor agreements.

Sharp criticism of car styling that brought some hurried last minute changes for 1959.

Continuing rise in the demand for smaller, lower priced cars.

Ahead for 1959 undoubtedly is a better year for the car makers. Predictions of a sales volume in excess of 6½ million cars come from nonautomotive economists who sprinkle a liberal number of "ifs" in their appraisals. Major stipulation, of course, is the availability of expendable income. Another is the appeal of substantially altered styling.

The cars that were criticized as too gaudy in 1958 are making less lavish used of bright trim generally. But already there has been some criticism of cars too long and too wide among 1959 models.

More smaller, lower priced American-built cars undoubtedly are coming.

Eskimo Yo-Yo Is Newest Fad for U.S. Youngsters

LOS ANGELES (AP)—It was a dull evening on the tundra.

Mukluk the Magnificent stirred restlessly on his caribou couch.

"If the Great Father had to make our nights so long," he grumbled, "why couldn't he have given us something to do with them?"

Idly, Mukluk began twirling a ball of fur attached to a strip of reindeer hide — a plaything temporarily abandoned by one of his offspring.

Then he tied another ball of fur to the other end of the rawhide strip. Maybe it would be more fun if he could get both balls going at once, in opposite directions.

Eventually Mukluk succeeded and thus, some 700 years ago, was born an invention that is making an igloo-full of money for two young Southern Californians.

It's called an Eskimo yo-yo and at last report more than a million members of the lollipop crowd across the nation had acquired replicas.

James Jameson, 27, stumbled across an account of the Eskimo toy in a textbook two years ago while teaching in a suburban Claremont junior high school. He and his brother Bob, 25, then an engineer at Kaiser Steel's Fontana plant, set up Creative Capers Mfg. Co. to fashion the toys of rubber balls and plastic cord.

Today the company employs 30 persons and operates around the clock to turn out 10,000 of the gadgets daily.

"Sales have spread to 28 states so far," says James, "and we can't keep up with the orders."

The yo-yos sold at first for 98 cents each. Now 10 other companies have jumped into the act, James says, and the price has been cut to 59 cents.

"If the idea keeps on growing," he says, "who knows? We may even find ourselves making these things for the Eskimos."

Oysters chosen to bear cultured pearls require seven years to produce a gem.

Train's Run Completed Without Some of Crew

LYNDONVILLE, N. Y. (AP)—The engineer of an eastbound freight pulled into Ashwood, six miles from here, to discover a motorist frantically flagging him down.

In the motorist's car were the train's brakeman and conductor. They were left in Lyndonville when the engineer overlooked 15 cars and the caboose after switching off an empty car.

END OF THE LINE

LONDON (AP)—Sabu, the police dog responsible for 65 arrests during seven years' service in London's East End, has been discharged because of injury.

Railroads Claim Safety Title for Transportation

CHICAGO (AP) — On the basis of passenger miles traveled last year, train travel had a lower fatality rate than bus, scheduled airliner, taxi or private car transportation.

Trains magazine says the fatality rate for each 100 million passenger-miles was 2.6 for cars and cabs; 0.14 for buses; 0.12 for the airlines; and 0.07 for the rails.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann: How can I get this fellow to stop treating me like a sister? I am 22 and he is 25. We've had a standing date every Saturday night for 4½ months.

I would like to marry this man but how in the world will we ever reach that stage when he can't seem to get up the nerve to kiss me good night?

In the theater the other night, during a particularly moving scene, my hand accidently brushed his. He jumped a foot. I'm sure he thought I was trying to hold hands with him. It was terribly embarrassing.

I'm not the aggressive type but I fear if I don't make some move, this may go down in history as the longest platonic friendship in history. Can you help me? — STONE WALL.

Dear Stone Wall: He's the one who needs help—not you. A 25-year-old man who has had 18 dates with a girl and "jumps a foot" at the touch of her hand is no red - hot candidate for marriage.

If this relationship hasn't produced ample voltage in 4½ months to spark a good night kiss, I suspect Lochinvar is not hitting on all cylinders.

Tell him goodbye and good luck and point him in the direction of a head doctor.

Dad Will Understand

Dear Ann: Two years ago my father left my mother to marry a much younger woman who I must admit is pretty.

I miss my father very much and am always excited when he calls and invites me to dinner and a movie. I keep hoping we will be alone so we can have a nice talk. But it never turns out that way. He always has his new wife along.

She never says much but the fact that she is there spoils my evening. I've tried to like her but I just can't. I feel like a big hypocrite because to me she'll always be the woman who broke my mother's heart and ruined our family life.

Do I have the right to ask my father to leave her at home when he invites me out? My mother has asked me to try to overcome my bitter feelings but I just can't. Please advise me. I am 16 years old.—PAT.

Dear Pat: If you find it impossible to accept your father's new wife handle the situation tactfully, like this:

Drop him a note (at his place of business) and say you'd appreciate it if next time you could talk with him privately. At the next meeting explain you consider time with him precious and would he please save it just for you. He should understand.

Troubled Conscience

Dear Ann: Seven months ago I had a baby girl out of wedlock. I gave her up for adoption. When the social worker questioned me for the record I lied about the real father. He is a married man, well known in the community, and I wanted to protect him.

Instead, I gave the name of a former boy friend. He lives in town but his family is not prominent. I didn't think it would hurt as all the information is kept strictly confidential.

Lately my conscience has been bothering me. Do you think I ought to go back and tell the social worker I lied? Under no circumstances will I give her the real name.—GUILTY.

Strange that you displayed such nobility of spirit in behalf of a scoundrel and on the other hand you did some innocent guy the cruel injustice of naming him when you knew you were lying in your teeth.

By all means tell the social worker you lied. If you don't wish to name the real father, okay, but get the innocent man off the hook.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Marion Star, enclosing a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

New Facilities Ready

CLEVELAND (AP)—Most of the 3,500 elementary school children in split-session Cleveland public school classes will be able to attend at normal hours after February. School officials say three new buildings and an addition will be completed Feb. 1 and will take up most of the present overload whichinvolves 100 classes in East Side schools.

Second To Come From Satellite

Radio Engineer's Voice Is Rebroadcast by Atlas

CORONA, Calif. (AP) — The young engineer's voice crackled across the heavens:

"This is Prado Dam United States Army Signal Research and Development Laboratory, Corona, Calif . . . . ."

Then Sam Findler read the President's now famous satellite Christmas message.

Tumbling through the dark void of space, the orbiting Atlas satellite picked up the transmission and broadcast it back to another tracking station at Ft. Sam Houston, Tex.

Thus, last Saturday, the voice of Findler, 34, became the first other than the President's to be broadcast from outer space.

The engineer from Neptune, N.J., told Thursday him it was done.

Early in November Findler headed an 11-man team that moved like a band of well equipped gypsies into the rolling foothills near Prado Dam, about 50 miles southwest of Los Angeles. Their job was secretly to set up a satellite tracking station and stand ready.

On a hillside a few hundred yards from a busy highway, Findler and his men set up the portable generator, radio direction finder, four large coil antennae and other material needed to track and talk to the satellite.

Then last week at Cape Canaveral, Fla., the Atlas blasted off with a fiery swoosh. The waiting for Findler and company had ended.

Findler read the President's Christmas message to the satellite Saturday as one of the station's communication experiments. Since then other messages by voice and teletype code have been transmitted to and re-broadcast back from the satellite.

The tracking station, one of four, will remain in operation as long as the satellite can broadcast.

Soviet Foreign Minister Blasts West's Stand in Berlin Crisis

Atomic War Threatened By Gromyko

Says Allies' Refusal To Get Out of City Could Start Conflict

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union warned Thursday that Western insistence on remaining in Berlin could kindle nuclear war that would reach America.

Foreig Minister Andrei Gromyko continued the Kremlin's campaign to force the Western Allies out of West Berlin by predictions of nuclear war if they stay. He boasted Russia is well armed for any trouble.

Gromyko spoke at the closing session of the winter meeting of Russia's parliament, the Supreme Soviet. He also urged a ban on nuclear weapon tests without controls which the West considers necessary.

Find Nothing New

Diplomats in Washington said they found nothing new in Gromyko's speech. There was no immediate comment from the State Department.

If an end is not put to the Berlin crisis, Gromyko said, "the threat will further increase of West Berlin becoming a second Sarajevo."

Premier Khrushchev has demanded that the United States, Britain and France pull their occupation troops out of West Berlin by June 1, leaving it a demilitarized free city surrounded by Communist East Germany. Western attempts to reach Berlin without East German permission would be aggression against the Soviet bloc, Khrushchev warned.

Pledges Backing for Berliners

The West has pledged to stick with the 2,200,000 West Berliners, who overwhelmingly vote anti-Communist. It contends East Germany has no authority to control Western military traffic to Berlin.

Gromyko said that "any attempt at aggression against (East Germany) may start a new big war in which millions upon millions of people would find their death."

"The flame of war would inevitably spread to the American continent, for today's military techniques have virtually eliminated the difference between distant theaters of war and those close at hand," he asserted.

The foreign minister added that Russia "has no objection to hearing proposals if the West has any — if those proposals are directed toward solving the problem and are not rejections of our solution." ficial Western suggestions that discussions of Berlin be linked with reunification of Germany.

Christmas

Christmas visit to troops of the U.N. Emergency Force in the Gaza Strip, keeping peace between Israel and Egypt.

It was a busy day for Pope John XXIII. After celebrating midnight Mass Christmas Eve in the presence of the diplomatic corps of the Holy See he celebrated another at St. Peter's Basilica at noon. He then visited two Rome hospitals.

Later, receiving 60 orphans and 20 mutilated and crippled children in the Vatican, he broke down and cried. Smiling through the tears he told the children: "You know, in this life you only cry twice. The very young, and the old, they can cry."

The Viennese talked of a Christmas Eve miracle which spared the lives of all 34 persons aboard an Air France Constellation that crashed short of the Vienna airport and exploded. Five Americans were among those aboard.

"It feels like a miracle — like the herald angels were our guardian angels," said Shirley Hindman, 34, of San Bernardino, Calif., a crash survivor.

15 Trapped in Tunnels

But there was no such joy in Zichem Zussen Bolder, Belgium, where 15 men trapped in the collapse of tunnels used for mushroom farming were presumed dead.

Clear weather over most of the United States brought the cars out in droves, and traffic deaths mounted rapidly. The National Safety Council estimated there would be 620 deaths during the four-day holiday.

A bright, folksy Christmas greeting to the world came from Britain's Queen Elizabeth. On radio and TV she said, "It seems to me that Christmas is just the time to be grateful to those who add fullness to our lives . . . the prophets and dreamers, philosophers, men of ideas and poets, artists in paint, sculpture and music. . . .

'Need Something More'

"Even so, we need something more. We all need the kind of security that one gets from a happy and united family."

She thanked those who had written to say they would like to see Princess Anne and Prince Charles on TV but said, "We believe that public life is not a fair burden to place on growing children."

President Eisenhower, following a quiet family Christmas at the White House, was going today to his Gettysburg, Pa., farm to work on messages to the new Congress. The Eisenhowers planned to stay at the farm through New Year's Day.

Peiping radio said Christmas in Red China was observed by Protestants and Catholics in their churches and homes.

Slack Off on Holiday

The Chinese Reds, after firing only 46 artillery rounds at the Nationalist Quemoy Islands in the morning, declared a cease-fire for the rest of Christmas Day. The Nationalists had already announced they would not reply to Christmas Day Communist fire.

In Algeria, only one terrorist incident was reported, the explosion of a time-fused mortar shell hidden in a tire on a parked car. One person was killed and nine were wounded. No unusual French or rebel military action was reported. French troops celebrated with turkey and champagne.

traffic duties with orders to take drunks from behind steering wheels.

The safety council spokesman said "Virtually every official effort has been redoubled to protect motorists from themselves and other drivers.

"There is only one person who can do anything more to avert accidents. That is the individual driver."

With an estimated 40 million cars on the roads during the holiday, inevitable thousands defied the conformity of driving rules devised for safety at highway speeds. In some cases the result was fatal to several persons.

Five persons died in one flaming wreck of two cars near Jackson, N. C. Another head-on collision exploded two cars near Michigan City, Ind., killing four. Near Coats, N. C., three lives were smashed out, also in a head-on collision. Often, it was the heedless or unheeded pedestrian who was pitched to sudden death.

A Greyhound bus loaded with 34 holiday passengers skidded into a crowd on a highway, killing a woman and injuring her husband.

The count was higher than the council's pre-holiday estimate 620 deaths during the 102-hour holiday period.

er organizations. She declared that response in this respect was "much better" than ever before.

A total of $1,294 in cash was given to the Guild for its program, which was spent for both food and toys for families who would otherwise have spent Christmas without either.

With Christmas out of the way, the next big holiday will be the advent of 1959, a week hence.

In the meantime, the weatherman predicted this morning that the mercury would reach a high of 40 today, drop to perhaps 31 tonight and then climb back to 45 Saturday. With warmer weather anticipated at least through Saturday, chances are good that the one-half inch of snow that obligingly fell to accommodate Christmas celebrants will be gone by Monday.

Woman Hurt In Auto-Train Accident Here

Husband's Car Stalls On Tracks; She Gets Out, Is Hit by Vehicle

One person was injured in an automobile-train accident in the city Thursday night. It was one of 16 traffic accidents investigated Wednesday afternoon and Thursday by Marion police. Patrolmen reported no accidents in the county and sheriff's deputies investigated one.

Hurt when the car in which she was riding was struck by a westbound Erie Railroad freight train at the Kenton Ave. crossing at 6:17 p.m. Thursday was Rebecca Tremaine, 27, of Phoenix, Ariz. She suffered injuries to her right arm and both knees and is reported in good condition at General Hospital today.

Engine Stalls

The car was driven by her husband, John, 27, of the same address. He told police he was driving southeast on Kenton Ave. and heard the train approaching from his left. He said he already was on the crossing when he stopped his car and started to back up. While doing so the car's engine died, and he and his wife jumped out.

When the locomotive struck the left front of the car, it spun the car around and it struck Mrs Tremaine and knocked her down before she could get out of the way. There was no damage to the locomotive and the car was not heavily damaged, police said.

The engineer of the Erie train was F. J. Hord of Marion and the conductor was Paul O'Brien of Marion.

Parked Car Hit

A car driven by Elbert L. Taylor, 25, of 1020 Oak Grove Ave. struck a parked car on S. Greenwood St. at 4:09 p.m. Wednesday. The parked car was owned by Mary C. Hane of 419 E. Church St.

Cars driven by George R. Ulery, 20, of 269 S. Grand Ave. and Robert W. Messenger, 37, of 144 Merchant Ave. were involved in an accident in the 700 block of E. Center St. at 6.05 p.m. Wednesday.

A collision at Brenner and Ten Eyck Cts. at 12:17 p.m. Wednesday involved cars driven by Alfred M. LaPierre, 63, of 811 E. Center St. and J. P. Isaly, 22, of 808 Chelsea Ave.

Cars driven by Dorothy B. Key, 47, of 333 Lafayette St. and Charles J. Earhart, 33, of 141 Blaine Ave. collided in the 100 block of N. Main St. at an alley intersection at 6:14 p.m. Wednesday.

Each of the other 11 accidents in the city caused less than $100 total damage, police estimated.

Car Runs Into Tree

Mrs. Earl C. Klingel, 54, of 473 Elmwood Dr. was treated at General Hospital Wednesday morning for scalp injuries suffered when the car in which she was riding struck a tree in the 600 block of Vernon Heights Blvd., sheriff's deputies reported.

Deputies said Mr. Klingel, 54, was driving south at about 8:35 a.m. when the car skidded into the tree. Mrs. Klingel was released after emergency treatment.

Rise in Consumption Seen in 1959

Supplies of Newsprint Exceeded Demand in '58

By WALTER BUSSEWITZ
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—U.S. newspaper publishers had no problem getting enough newsprint in 1958.

There was such a bulge of supply over demand the North American newsprint producers paused in their big expansion programs.

The U.S. and Canadian mills were able to serve their customers without drawing on around 15 per cent of capacity.

Consumption should rise in 1959, along with the expected improvement in the nation's economy. But producers are sure they can handle even a sudden strong spurt in demand.

The American Newspaper Publishers Assn. reported consumption for much of this year ran about 4 per cent under 1957.

During the past two years, North American newsprint manufacturers carried out a 350-million dollar expansion, which boosted productive capacity by 20 per cent.

Despite the growth of newsprint manufacturing in the U.S., the domestic industry still is less than one-third the size of Canada's.

Newsprint is selling on a contract basis in New York at a delivered price of $134 a ton. The last general boost of $4 a ton came in March 1957.

As the year neared its end, Sir Eric Bowater, head of Bowater Paper Corp., was asked about the future of newsprint prices. He said:

"Somebody has got to absorb the ever increasing costs of production and distribution, a tendency that never seems to stop. It's not true to say I'm contemplating it, but a rise in prices is needed."

Wichita's Cowtown Restores Jail Used by Marshal Earp

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — A bit of the Old West—so real that you can get yourself tossed into the genuine Wyatt Earp jail—has been restored here.

The arch over the entrance welcomes you to Cowtown. Like the busy city that has grown where that famed early day marshal once kept things orderly with a fast six-gun, Cowtown still is growing.

This year the civic-minded business and professional men and women who formed Historic Wichita, Inc., to keep pioneer relics and spirit alive are in clover. The city, after two budget-squeezing years, voted $15,000 for maintenance and a caretaker, so private funds can go into Cowtown's expansion.

Serves as President

B. M. Long, newspaper editor, currently is Historic Wichita's president. Long's devotion to Cowtown has deep roots. He is managing editor of The Wichita Eagle, still the property of the Murdock family that ran it when Cowtown was all there was to Wichita in the 1870s.

Marcellus Murdock, present Eagle publisher, is a son of Col. Marsh Murdock, the Eagle's founder in 1872. And Col. Marsh is a familiar character to most of the nation's small fry, in the current television series, "The Life and Legend of Wyatt Earp."

The Wyatt Earp jail is the centerpiece of Cowtown, which occupies a virgin flat of grass and dirt streets on the bank of the Big Arkansas River five minutes by auto from the main business district.

The small, wooden structure bears a bronze nameplate dedicated to the famed marshal. The plaque wasn't there, of course, when Earp used the jail as a sobering-up station for boisterous cowhands at the "pay day and whisky" end of the old Chisholm Trail.

Used as Coal House

It was restored with minor renewals here and there, after serving as a coal house through the years until Historic Wichita found it, bought it, and moved it to its present site and glory.

Across the street is the Munger House, first home built in Wichita 87 years ago. Nearby are other rough frame buildings—the first volunteer fire station; the first school, a one-room, sod-roofed, dirt-floored structure; a drug store; and the first railroad station, hard benches and all.

Each is furnished with authentic antiques. Most furniture and fittings were donated by descendants of Wichita pioneers.

With Long and his associates—businessmen, doctors, ministers, former city officials and a former Kansas governor, Wichita attorney Payne Ratner—it has been a labor of love.

A sustaining membership in Historic Wichita costs $5, a life membership $100. Every penny goes into Cowtown's improvement.

Last May, wives of members combed the city and staged a rummage sale that netted $625 for the "fix up fund"—for paint, repairs and a general cleanup. Sponsors say the sale may become an annual affair.

Since opened to the public, Cowtown has drawn thousands of visitors. Girl Scouts, active in community service, serve as volunteer guides. For visitors there is a souvenir pamphlet, telling the city's history in word and picture.

He is the sixth cabinet appointment announced by DiSalle, who will take over from Republican Gov. C. William O'Neill next Jan. 12.

As liquor director, he will take over from Floyd C. Moon, on leave from the Ohio Highway Patrol. Recently Moon announced that he would resume his patrol post with the rank of captain, on inauguration day.

The liquor director's job pays a salary of $12,000 a year.

Five in Family Die in Blaze at Richmond, Va.

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Fire flashed through a three-story mansion in an exclusive Richmond residential section early today, taking the lives of a prominent Virginia businessman and four members of his family.

A son home on Christmas leave from the Coast Guard was the only survivor.

Recovered from the ruins of their $150,000 home in fashionable Windsor Farms were the bodies of Horace A. Gray Jr., 49; his wife, Catherine, 47; two sons, Thomas, 17, and Foster, 13; and a daughter, Susan Lee, 19.

The third son, Horace A. Gray III, 22, returned to the home overlooking the James River and found his family dead. There apparently were no servants in the home at the time.

Firemen said some members of the family apparently had made frantic efforts to awaken others. Three bodies were found near windows on an upper floor.

The first alarm was sounded by Mrs. Gray at 1:48 a.m. She called, apparently from a bedside telephone, and said "we are suffocating to death" and gave the street address.

Fire Lt. Jeff Pemberton, among the first on the scene, said he kicked open front door to find a mass of flames.

He said the fire obviously spread from the first floor library to the remainder of the 15-room home.

Firemen said the girl and the two boys apparently had made desperate efforts to awaken their parents, and then had made their way to windows. Their bodies were 30 to 40 feet from their bedrooms.

Firemen found the body of Gray draped over a bed in a second-floor room.

He was a director of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Co. and numerous other businesses and civic groups.

Crippled Child Shares 'Gifts' With Reporter

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Christmas morning face of a little girl in a hospital, her eyes dancing as she waited for Santa, brought home "the meaning of Christmas—love, faith and truth" to a bachelor reporter.

"Her name is Gail Marie, aged 4," wrote James Schurz of the San Francisco Examiner, "and for as long as she can remember her legs and feet have been imprisoned in heavy plaster casts."

Schurz was walking down a corridor of the Shriners' Hospital for Crippled Children at 9:15 a.m. when Gail Marie, who had been awake since 6 waiting for Santa's scheduled 9:30 arrival, couldn't contain her excitement.

"Merry Christmas," she called. "Come here." Then, in a conspirative tone: "You'd better wait here with me—Santa's coming."

Santa doesn't arrive by night on a sleigh at the hospital. The 60 children there know well that he comes Christmas morning in a fire engine.

Schurz—like that—fell in love, and waited.

A trumpet in the corridor heralded Santa's arrival and Gail Marie began trembling. The trembling mounted when seven firemen in full uniform appeared and finally Sahta Claus, laden with gifts.

Packages with her name and age held a stocking full of fruit, a Cinderella doll, a coral-tinted telephone and a fully equipped doctor's black bag.

Gail Marie wanted to give the telephone to Schurz because he didn't get anything. He assured her that Santa had visited him earlier and there were a lot of telephones back at the office.

Woman Drops Life Savings, $4,087, on Bus

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—An 83-year-old woman, who carries her life savings with her, will be heading for a bank if she follows the advice of Policeman Dorran Childers.

The woman, from nearby Richmond, excited about visiting friends for Christmas dinner, left $4,087.50 on a bus when she got off in downtown Oakland.

She told another bus driver, who took her to the bus terminal. There they found police counting her money which had been turned in by L. T. Sewell, driver of the first bus.

Childers returned the money to the woman and then drove her to her holiday destination, urging her all the way there to put her savings in a bank.

"I think I finally convinced her," said the officer, asking reporters not to use the woman's name.

Air Comics: Something Lost, Something Gained

One of the joys of the New York newspaper strike has been listening to the comic strips read over the radio. "We left off as Dondi was listening at the window. As we pick up the story, Uncle Ted is talking to his mother. Uncle Ted says: 'How could you expect her to accept me — a truck driver?' And his mother said: 'Maybe she loves you.' And little Dondi said: 'Sure Uncle Ted. Okay Uncle Ted.'"

JOHN CROSBY

Some vital ingredient goes out of comic strips when they're read over the air. But occasionally another vital ingredient goes in.

Those two madcaps, Klavan and Finch, have been reading Prince Valiant over WNEW and it gains in translation.

"What makes you so old ad haggard, Merlin?" cries Klavan, a line I can't believe was in the strip.

"What may I do for you ere I pass?" declaims Finch.

They sounded a little like Wayne and Shuster and Prince Valiant never had it so good.

IN "DANCING—A Man's Game" on "Omnibus" Sunday, Gene Kelly seemed determined to expunge any lingering suspicions of effeminacy that might have gathered around the profession that catapulted him to movie stardom.

To demonstrate that graceful movement was hardly a feminine prerogative, he opened his hour-long essay with an assemblage of renowned sports figures — Mickey Mantle, throwing a baseball; Sugar Ray Robinson, throwing punches; Vic Seixas, belting a tennis ball, and others from basketball, track and football.

"Most dance movements have their counterparts in sport," Kelly explained.

From each athlete he got a characteristic sports movement and combined them into a series of dance movements — a great trick if you can do it.

The "average American man" accepts dancing as an indispensable part of courtship and wooing, declared Kelly (who wrote his own script) and he showed some movies of little kids in dancing school. Among these youngsters were girls — the only girls allowed on the Kelly show.

KELLY WENT ON to explain that the original ballet movements go back to such male occupations as duelling, and demonstrated how the classic movement of feet is strictly a utilitarian bit borrowed from the duel.

There was a marvelous bit cutting back and forth between Dick Button, the world's champion figure skater, and a ballet dancer, demonstrating how close those two arts are to each other.

Again and again Kelly returned to his thesis that the dance was the property and prerogative of men, not women, illustrating with the tremendously masculine and virile dances of Spain and Russia.

IN ONE of the best bits, Kelly demonstrated how our American tap dance developed out of the Irish jigs and reels. Later Kelly teamed up with Patrick Adiarte, an enormously talented young dancer from "Flower Drum Song," and the pair showed the extension of tap movements to the modern generation of young dancers.

The essay — for that's what it was — closed with a vignette of some street corner idlers, fighting and loafing.

It was a wonderful mixture of education and sheer visual fun, showing what TV can do in this line when it half tries. With the Fred Astaire show, soon to be repeated, already being picked as one of the all-time great TV shows, this gradually is shaping up as the best season the dance ever had on television.

IT MAY BE premature softening of the brain, but I think this was the most subdued Christmas season in many a year so far as radio and television are concerned.

Christmas was not beaten to death on the air as it had been in past years. Christmas on the radio, in particular, crept up on us with not more than a faint jingling of bells and no profanation of Christmas carols by constant over-use and misuse.

The Christmasy television shows I saw have been in wonderful taste. I was particularly taken with Perry Como's show last Saturday. It was a marvel of appropriate sentiment and restraint and a model of taste.

This is the season for color television, all right, all right. Color television has improved enormously even in the last six months and the Christmas colors — the reds and greens against the white of snow — are breathtaking.

"Amahl and the Night Visitors," the annual visitant opera on NBC, seemed lovelier than ever on color television.

It's a shame that, of all the networks, NBC alone is doing anything at all about broadcasting in color. Of course, you may say RCA (which owns NBC) has a huge stake in selling color sets—but the fact is that color television is a real joy to watch and, if they ever get it off the ground, the country at large will be the richer for it.

Heart Ailment Fatal

CLEVELAND (AP)—Mrs. Edward B. Greene, 74, whose philanthropy included large gifts to the Cleveland Museum of Art and the Museum of Natural History, died Thursday at her home here of a heart ailment. She was the granddaughter of Jeptha H. Wade, a founder and first president of the Western Union Telegraph Co. and the donor of Wade Park to the city in 1882. Her husband, who was retired board chairman of Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co., died 14 months ago.

HAPPY COUPLE. Jack Kelly and Adele Mara appear together in Sunday night's episode of the "Maverick" series entitled "The Spanish Dancer." Rivalry over Miss Mara's affections leads to a murder charge against Kelly. The drama will be seen at 7:30 p.m. over Station WTVN, Channel 6.

Logan Boy, 11, Hit by Cancer, Celebrates Double Christmas

LOGAN, Ohio (AP) — Eleven-year-old Kenny Ucker's Christmas wish came true Thursday — he spent the holiday in his beloved Logan with relatives and friends.

Actually it was the second Christmas celebration in less than a week for the youth, but the one Thursday is expected to be Kenny's last. The first Christmas was held last Sunday, because it was feared the boy would not live until Thursday. Doctors say he is dying of cancer.

Kenny, who with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ucker, and his 3-year-old brother, moved from Logan to a San Diego, Calif., suburb about a year ago.

About two months ago doctors discovered Kenny had an inoperable cancer.

The boy, who does not know he is dying, told his mother that the thing he wanted most for Christmas was to visit his friends and relatives in Logan. When Logan residents heard of this they raised the money to bring Kenny and his mother "home." His father and brother remained in California.

Following Sunday's celebration Kenny took a turn for the worse, but he was better when he got up early Thursday to see what Santa Claus had left on his second trip. Later, all of his relatives gathered for dinner at the Walter Polsley home, Kenny's uncle, with whom he and his mother are staying.

Kiwanis Hears Rev. Siemsen

Implications of Yule Outlined by Speaker

The Rev. Alvin Siemsen spoke to Marion Kiwanis Club members on "The Implications of Christmas" at their pre-holiday meeting held Wednesday noon at Hotel Harding.

Rev. Siemsen told the Christmas story in narrative form and pointed out that the implications of this story have been nationwide and has affected all religions.

Six implications other than religions were named by the Rev. Mr. Siemsen. He said that Christmas helps us to re-examine our own basic beliefs, and our relationships to one another. Christmas has helped us to learn that all men respond to a divine being in one form or another, he said.

It helps us to re-examine life for other than materialistic values and also re-enforces our feeling for world peace. The speaker was introduced by the Rev. J. B. Holloway.

Guests introduced by Harold Denzer were George Colvin of St. Louis, Robert Watts of Indianapolis, Jack Simonis of Cleveland, Chester Butterworth of Maryville, Tenn., and William McGrew of Marion.

Group singing was led by Leonard Young and Richard Myers was the accompanist.

Killed in Argument

CLEVELAND (AP)—An argument over a borrowed automobile led to the fatal shooting Thursday of John Henderson, 35, of Cleveland. Police said Henderson, a restaurant bus boy, was shot in the chest in the apartment of Mrs. Hattie Carter, 48. Homicide detective Harry Davidson said witnesses told him Mrs. Carter fired a revolver shot at Henderson after arguing with him about returning her car late.

She Has Great Courage

Fellow Students Praise 'Scholar in Iron Lung'

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — To some of her Wake Forest College classmates Martha Mason is the "intellgient, responsive" voice in the little gray box that sits on the professor's desk.

To others she is a gracious girl with more courage than a daylight burglar; a girl who can do practically nothing with her body but an "awful lot with her brain."

To thousands of North Carolinians she is simply "the scholar in the iron lung."

Until 1948 Martha had no claim to distinction. She lived in the small town of Lattimore and walked or ran the several blocks to school with the other youngsters.

In 1948 — just after finishing the fifth grade — infantile paralysis killed her only brother and left her an invalid, delendent for life on a throbbing, cream - colored cylinder.

MARTHA CAN leave the iron lung for about an hour a day if she's feeling above par. Otherwise it's for a shorter time. Some days she's in it all the time.

With an iron lung her permanent home, she picked up whatever pieces were left for an 11-year-old girl and began willing her way toward an education. Today she is two years away from her bachelor's degree and she hopes not too many years away from a career as a writer.

Since 1948 she has gone to school the hard way, helped by a devoted mother and father, a number of Lattimore school teachers and the miracles of modern communication. Grammar grade and high school teachers in Lattimore came to her room daily until she graduated with honors.

With high school behind her, Martha wanted a college education. And, after some figuring and with the financial help of Cleveland County's citizens, to college she went.

An inter - communications system was set up at Gardner - Webb College near Shelby, one of the state's five Baptist junior colleges. Martha and her mother moved into a boys' dormitory.

"That," Martha said, "was lots of fun."

A SPECIAL telephone system connected their room with classrooms, permitting her to "attend" classes. She achieved a 97 per cent average.

Next Martha wanted to come to Wake Forest, one of North Carolina's two senior Baptist colleges. Setting up the communications system was more expensive this time, but the people in Cleveland County, particularly in Shelby, were eager for Martha to get all the education she wanted. They paid for the system.

Martha is taking Latin, philosophy, chemistry and two English courses. At mid-term there was every indication that she's continuing her all-A tradition.

Her Milton teacher, veteran Professor H. Broadus Jones, says: "She neither desires nor needs special favors. In accuracy and completeness of information, conciseness and clearness of phrasing, and good judgment she is unsurpassed in this group. She is a regular member of the group, participating in answering questions or expressing opinions, and her presence is felt as much as that of any other member of the class."

Man, 86, Loses Sprint Against Policeman, 27

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Odds were against James Smith, but police said he gave it a real game try before being arrested for possession of numbers slips.

Smith tried to outrun Patrolman Patrick McSweeney of the vice squad, but lost the short sprint. Smith is 86; McSweeney 27.

Police Hold Man in Abduction, Assault on Columbus Woman

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Thomas Perkins, 29-year-old father of two, faces a municipal court hearing today on charges stemming from the abduction and rape of a young housewife.

Police said Mrs. Frances Lollar, 29, identified Perkins as her assailant.

The woman's 10-month-old son was left alone in his crib Tuesday night when a masked intruder broke into the Lollar home here and, after a brief struggle, forced the woman at knifepoint to accompany him to his car.

Mrs. Lollar told police the man removed the handkerchief covering his face, blindfolled her and drove her to a secluded spot where he ordered her to disrobe and raped her. He then took her back home.

Perkins admitted the assault, police said. He is charged with burglary of an inhabited dwelling in the night season with intent to commit a felony, abduction and assault. He could draw a life sentence if convicted on the burglary charge.

Perkins was arrested Wednesday after his auto became involved in a collision. Police noted his right hand had been cut, that his car seat was covered with blotches of dried blood and that his description matched that given by Mrs. Lollar of her assailant.

The young mother told police she cut her attacker's right hand with a kitchen carving knife after he broke into the home through a rear door by knocking out a window with a shovel.

Perkins admitted he had been drinking quite a bit the night of the assault, but gave no other explanation for his actions, police said. He lives in the same neighborhood as Mrs. Lollar, whose husband was out having his car fixed when the intruder entered.

Irish To Battle Delaware in Carnival Cage Clash

Upper Sandusky's Rams Play Opener

Upper Sandusky opens its drive for the Marion Catholic Holiday carnival crown tonight at the Irish floor, meeting Mansfield St. Peter in the 7:30 p.m. opener.

Marion Catholic battles Delaware in the nightcap. The two losers will meet in Saturday night's opener with tonight's winners battling for the championship in Saturday's finale.

The Willis Panthers of Coach Cal Rucker come to town as defending champions of the annual fete. Delaware grabbed top honors last year by walloping Sycamore 47-31 in its first game, then taking the measure of Upper Sandusky 53-48 in the title scrap.

THE ROBBINSMEN were third place winners a season ago, downing Sycamore 67-48, after losing to Upper the first night by a 54-50 tally.

This will be the first time Mansfield St. Peter has appeared in Marion. In fact, this is the first season of interscholastic sports for the Spartans. The Catholic squad is coached by Bob Frye, assisted by Don Lane, captain of last season's Dayton Flyer quintet.

The Spartans have a 1-5 record. They downed Delaware St. Mary 59-31 for their only triumph of the season. They have suffered defeats at the hands of powerful Lexington, 75-54; Lucas, 46-37; Norwalk St. Paul, 71-52; Mount Vernon St. Vincent, 58-49; and Mansfield Madison, 70-47.

Mansfield finds its best scoring potential in Denny Bush Jr., 5-10 junior, who has tallied 101 points in the Spartans' six games. Teaming up with Bush as the usual St. Peter starters are Mike Haller, 6-foot junior, Chuck Ault, 6-3 senior, Bill Guisinger, 5-10 junior, and Tony Saprano, 5-8 senior.

The Spartans are not figured to offer too serious competition for Upper Sandusky's Rams. Coach Ed Fisher's cagers evidenced both speed and skill in rolling over the Irish 78-33 earlier this season before a home crowd of Robbinsmen fans.

THE RAMS are currently boasting an undefeated record, having rolled over the following teams, in addition to Marion: Kenton, 91-61; Bucyrus, 80-76; Mansfield Madison, 72-50; and Crestline, 84-46.

Irish fans will get another good look at Phil Clark, Fritz Smith, Dennis Hines, Riley Stover and John Hehr, the probable Ram starters. Smith, Clark, Hehr and Stover are averaging roughly 17, 15, 14 and 11 points respectively.

Marion Catholic, taking an 0-5 record into tonight's action, will be meeting a team equally inefficient thus far this season.

Rucker's lads have lost to Cardington, 49-31; Bexley, 58-36; Edington, 62-45; Worthington, 76-49; and Urbana, 67-33.

The Panthers' starting five in an all-junior outfit. Expected to jump center tonight is Arnold Boecklin, 6-1. At the forwards will be Ken Bensely, 5-8, and Kenny Banks, 6-feet. The guards will be Robin Crosby and Ray Clark, a pair of 10-footers. Clark and Crosby are the potential top scorers for the Rucker crew.

AS FOR THE Irish, Robbins, who has been juggling some 10 players most of the season in an effort to find a winning combination, is expected to go along with Tom Rish, 6-6 senior at center; Ted Anderson, 5-11 senior and Steve Myers, 6-foot junior or Duane Isom, 5-7 junior, at the guards; and Dennis Dickerson, 5-11 juninor and either Dennis Blue, 6-2 senior, or Paul Hurney, 6-2 sophomore, at the forwards.

In short, it looks like smooth sailing for Fisher's Rams in the two-night battle for the carnival trophy, with Marion Catholic rated a good chance for runnersup honors by virtue of having a home court adventure.

Admission for each night of action will be 75 cents for adults and 35 cents for children.

Southern Stars Are Favored in Blue-Gray Tilt

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — College all-stars who may turn pro will get a taste of two-platoon football in the Blue-Gray game Saturday.

The limited substitution rule will be waived and coaches will be able to alternate offensive and defensive teams each time the ball changes hands.

But in every other respect, the 48 seniors will be governed by the college regulations they've been playing under — including the chance to pick up two points instead of one after a touchdown.

Meanwhile, the prospect of rain for the 20th annual game gave Yankee performers increased hope of breaking the Rebels' winning habits. The South has been on top on the scoreboard in 13 of the 19 games.

Rated a three-point favorite by the soothsayers who have watched both squads work out, the Southerners are hoping for fair weather to make the most of a strong running and passing attack.

The game will be televised nationally (NBC). Kickoff is at 2 p. m. (EST).

HERE'S WHERE

WALKERS DAM, Va. (AP) — Ed Allen, who operates a boat renting service on Chickahominy Lake, got tired of customers asking where the big fish were. He and his wife went out for four hours and returned with 10 bass weighing a total of 54½ pounds, ranging from 3 to 8½ pounds. They put the bass on exhibit at their dock.

Flyers Duel Niagara in ECAC Fray

By The Associated Press

Kansas State, a team with a lot of making up to do on the tournament level, gets its chance tonight as college basketball resumes with a vengeance from its Christmas lull.

The Wildcats, who turned woeful in the NCAA championship finals last March, meet Missouri in the Big Eight Conference's Holiday Tourney, one of four major tournaments.

This is the second wave of basketball's holiday hi-jinks, touching off a spree of festive competition that continues almost without interruption through the first week of January.

Two Teams Undefeated

The ECAC Holiday Festival at New York's Madison Square Garden opened with an afternoon doubleheader matching Cornell (4-1) with Utah (4-3) and St. Joseph's of Philadelphia (6-1), the favorite, against Syracuse (3-2). Tonight a pair of unbeatens, Dayton (6-0) and Niagara (5-0), have a showdown followed by Holy Cross (3-1) against St. Joseph's of New York (5-1).

First round play in the Southwest Conference Tourney had favored Texas Christian (5-1) against Baylor (4-3) and SMU (5-2) against Arkansas (2-3) in afternoon games, and a night doubleheader matching Rice (4-3) with Texas (2-4) and Texas Tech (4-2) with Texas A&M (5-1).

The oldest of all the Christmas tournaments, the All-College at Oklahoma City, had an afternoon schedule of Wichita (4-3) vs Bowling Green (2-2) and Tulsa (4-3) vs Duquesne (2-4) and a night program of favored Xavier of Ohio (5-1) vs Oregon (4-1) and Oklahoma City (5-1) vs San Francisco (2-5).

Just to keep everyone happy, two more major and numerous smaller tournaments begin Saturday. Oregon State is the favorite in the Far West Classic at Corvallis, Ore., which also includes Air Force, Iowa and Wyoming. Brigham Young, only team to beat Kansas State this season, is favored over Dartmouth, Seton Hall and Canisius in the Queen City Tournament in Buffalo, N.Y. — also beginning Saturday.

Sooners Duel Iowans

The Big Eight at Kansas City spreads its first round over two days. Oklahoma meets Iowa State in the other game tonight. Saturday Kansas faces Colorado and Nebraska meets Oklahoma State.

In case the four big tournaments aren't enough, there's the Hoosier Classic beginning in Indianapolis with Purdue meeting Butler and Indiana facing Notre Dame tonight, and the four-team Evansville (Ind) Invitational with Tennessee Tech, St. Marys (Calif), Washington (St.ouis) and Evansville entered.

Marion Countians Seek Crown at Tiffin Tourney

The Marion County entry won its opening test Monday by sinking the Tiffin YMCA 92-65. Saturday night, it will meet McCollouth Motors of Findlay at 7. Ten teams started in the tourney but the field has been reduced to four semifinalists. Columbus Grove will meet Routh Packers of Tiffin in Saturday's finale at 8 p.m. Saturday night's winners will clash Monday for the title. Sharrel Leffler sparked the Green Camp team to its opening win with 27 points. Bill Coder added 18, Jay Flach 17 and Bob Weston 16.

Oscar Retains Point Lead in Spite of Slide

By The Associated Press

Oscar Robertson and Cincinnati have slumped a bit, but Big O and the Bearcats are tops in major college basketball scoring races.

Robertson, the All-America who took the individual scoring crown as a sophomore last season, has slipped below a 40-point average for the first time this season, according to NCAA Service Bureau statistics of games through last Saturday. He's only averaging 38.3 (down from 42.7) after scoring 27 points as Cincinnati beat St. Louis 57-50.

That also shaved the unbeaten Bearcats' output a bit, but they jumped from second to first in the team race with a 91.2 average. They had been rolling at a 95.7-point-a-game clip, but moved up as Ohio University plunked from a bold 101.7 average to 83.5 and skidded from first to eighth.

Jimmy Hagan of Tennessee Tech, up from fifth place, became the new challenger to Robertson's runaway. Hagan scored 45 points against Louisiana Tech and upped his average to 33.0, passing Mississippi State's Bailey Howell, who now is third with a 32.1 average.

Pittsburgh's little Don Hennon, another All - America, and Jon Cincebox of Syracuse round out the top five in individual scoring. Hennon's game average is 29.7. Cincebox has a 27.0 average.

Mississippi State (89.4), Tennessee Tech (88.4), Miami of Florida (88.0) and Auburn (85.2) fall in behind Cincinnati for the top five spots in team scoring. St. John's of New York is a close sixth behind Auburn with an 85.17 average.

Hank Stein of Xavier (Ohio) retained the freethrow lead with a .943 percentage, sinking 33 of 35. Ralph Crosthwaite, Western Kentucky, the defending champ, took the field goal lead with a .648 mark, scoring on 35 of 54. Howell has the best rebound recovery rate, .225.

Will Battle Florida

Mississippi Given Role As Gator Bowl Favorite

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Mississippi and Florida — two football teams that gave national champion Louisiana State fierce competition — meet in the 14th annual Gator Bowl game Saturday (2 p.m.)

Gator Bowl selectors couldn't get the national champions for their postseason game but they feel they got the two best matched available teams.

Odds on the major bowl games bear them out. Mississippi, ranked 11th in the nation in the final Associated Press poll, is six points favorite over Florida, ranked 14th.

All the favorites in the New Year's Day bowls—Texas Christian over Air Force, Louisiana State over Clemson, Oklahoma over Syracuse and Iowa over California — are wider choices.

Mississippi, returning only two regulars from its Sugar Bowl championship team of a year ago, won 8 games, lost 2 in the 1958 season.

Florida had a season record of 6 victories, 3 losses and 1 tie.

This is Mississippi's seventh bowl game but first time in the Gator Bowl. The Rebels have won in the Sugar, Cotton and Delta bowls; lost twice in the Sugar and once in the Orange bowls for a 3-3 bowl standing.

Florida's only previous bowl game was in the Gator Bowl and the Gators won it over Tulsa.

Parseghian Delays Starting Selection For North's Squad

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — College all-stars get in final practice licks today for the Shrine's North-South football game in the Orange Bowl Saturday night.

Individual performances were expected to settle starting lineups. North Coach Ara Parseghian of Northwestern flatly announced he wanted to see the Yanks' final workout before deciding between Nick Mumley, 240, of Purdue and Bob Wetoska, 225, of Notre Dame for a hotly contested left tackle spot.

Darrell Royal of Texas, coach of the South squad, promised a wide open, pro-type offense. Royal has had his Rebels working on pass plays built around Baylor's Buddy Humphrey, a top hand among collegiate pigskin marksmen.

Hart Predicting Victory In TV Duel With Dupas

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Garnet (Sugar) Hart said he came here to knock out Ralph Dupas in their scheduled 10-round main event at Miami Beach Auditorium tonight.

The welterweight fight will be nationally televised over the NBC network at 10 p. m. (EST).

Despite Hart's supreme confidence and his record of flattening 20 of his 29 opponents, he looms as a 7-5 underdog when the opening bell rings. The critics just can't see him matching the ringcraft and experience of the New Orleans battler.

Passing Ace Feared

New York Defense To Key on Unitas

NEW YORK (AP) — "Stop Unitas" was the New York Giants watchword today as they prepared for their final long workout for the National League Football championship game against the Baltimore Colts Sunday.

The scrimmage was designed to set up what Coach Jim Lee Howell hopes will be an impregnable defense against the passing of the Colts' star quarterback, Johnny Unitas.

Heavy Work Slated

That meant defensive coach Tom Landry's famous foursome—pass defenders Jim Patton, Cliff Livingston, Lindon Crow and Emlen Tunnell—were in for some extra heavy work trying to knock down the heaves of Chuck Conerly, Don Heinrich and Joe Kemp.

It is no secret that along with the Colts' massive forward wall, the Giants fear Unitas the most. They have not forgotten their 24-21 victory over Baltimore was achieved with Unitas on the sidelines, nursing a couple of cracked ribs. They are fully aware that Unitas has thrown at least one touchdown pass in his last 25 games, a league record.

Seek To Stretch String

The Giants are rightfully proud of the fact they did not permit the Cleveland Browns to throw a single touchdown pass, either in the final game of the regular season or in the playoff. The Giants won both by scores of 13-10 and 10-0. In the first game Jimmy Brown scored on a 65-yard run.

Despite the heavy concentration on Unitas, Howell isn't underestimating Alan Ameche and Lenny Moore, whom he regards as two of the best running backs in the league.

Colts Sharpen Pass Defenses For Title Play

BALTIMORE (AP) — Johnny Unitas, the rifle-armed passer for the Baltimore Colts, is sure he'll have his aerials on target for the big battle against the New York Giants Sunday.

One thing was evident in Christmas Day drills: Unitas pegs were evidently up to holiday hi-jinks.

Passes Go Astray

The star quarterback who has connected on better than 50 per cent of his passes during the season was often hitting the dirt or sailing the ball like a satellite over the receiver.

Coach Weeb Ewbank was a bit disturbed but Unitas assured him, "Don't worry coach. I'll be all right."

Meanwhile, the Western Conference titlists of the National Football League brushed up on a specialty — their pass interception technique.

To help get his charges used to the Giant backfield men, Ewbank had offensive players wear jerseys with the same numbers worn by the likes of quarterback Charley Connerly and halfback Frank Gifford.

Average 3 a Game

Baltimore defenders managed to snare 35 enemy aerials during the 12-game season for an average of almost three a game. The runbacks totaled a hefty 514 yards.

Andy Nelson and Raymond Brown were the most proficient pilferers. Each snagged eight. Nelson returned them for a total of 199 yards including a touchdown. Brown rolled up 149 yards on runbacks.

Banks Claims Slugging Title In NL's Chase

NEW YORK (AP) — Ernie Banks, hard-hitting Chicago Cubs' shortstop, today added the National League slugging championship to his long list of 1958 laurels.

Banks, the circuit's Most Valuable Player, home run and runs batted in leader, captured the slugging title with a .614 mark. The official statistics showed Banks collected 379 total bases in 617 times at bat.

Willie Mays of San Francisco, runner-up to Richie Ashburn in the batting race, also finished second in slugging. Mays had 350 total bases in 600 tries for a .583 slugging percentage.

Hank Aaron of Milwaukee was third with .546, followed by Frank Thomas of Piltsburgh and Stan Musial of St. Louis with .528 each.

Ashburn, the Phillies' lead - off man, led the league in bases on balls with 97. Harry Anderson, also of the Phils, struck out the most times, 95.

Musial tied a league record by receiving 26 intentional walks. Statistics on this category were not maintained until 1955.

Gene Green of St. Louis grounded into the most doubleplays, 24. Jim Davenport, San Francisco rookie, grounded into the fewest—4.

Three Buckeye Gridders To Start for Eastern Team

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Despite prospects of a wet field, look for a passing vs running battle when East meets West in the Shrine's 34th annual charity classic Saturday.

East Coach Duffy Daugherty announced his lineups today, and clearly the emphasis is on an East running game.

Don Clark to Start

The offensive backfield consists of Bob Ptacek of Michigan at quarterback, Ohio State's Don Clark at the running halfback spot, Dick Haley of Pittsburgh or Tom Lorino of Auburn, at right half, and Nick Pietrosante of Notre Dame at fullback.

Up front offensively, the Easternors, 6½ point favorites, will have Jerry Wilson, Auburn, and Tom Franckhauser, Purdue, ends; Fran O'Brien, Michigan State, and Bob Novogratz, Army tackles, Dan Fronk, Ohio State, and Al Ecuyer, Notre Dame, guards, and Bernie Svendsen, Minnesota, center.

The defensive backfield lists Frank Kremblas, Ohio State; Sid Williams, Wisconsin; Wray Carlton, Duke, and Jon Hobbs, Wisconsin.

Viewers watching the contest at 5 p.m. EST over nationwide television (NBC) will see this starting East defensive line:

On Offensive Line

Sammy Williams, Michigan State, and Bob Pepe, No. Carolina State, ends; Bronko Nagurski, Notre Dame, and Emil Karas, Dayton, tackles, John Guzik, Pittsburgh, and Ellison Kelly, Michigan State, guards, and Dick Teteak, Wisconsin, center. Art Gob, Pittsburgh end, will play both offense and defense, Daugherty said.

West Coach Jack Curtice was still mulling over his starting lineup, but it's a cinch Lee Grosscup of Utah, a co-captain with guard Charles Horton of Baylor, and Bobby Newman of Washington State will do plenty of passing.

Youth Activities

GIRL SCOUTS

Girl Scout Troop 28 sponsored by the Trinity Baptist Church met Tuesday afternoon and prepared packages of Christmas cookies. That night they delivered the packages to shut-ins and sang carols for them. Afterward they were served hot chocolate and cookies. The next meeting will be Jan. 5.

Althea Gibson Chosen as Top Feminine Star

By The Associated Press

Althea Gibson, the temporarily retired queen of tennis, today had another glorious chapter added to her Cinderella story. The one-time tomboy of Harlem was chosen the outstanding female athlete of 1958 in the annual Associated Press yearend poll.

This is the second straight year the tall, tenacious New Yorker has been awarded the honor by a nationwide panel of sportswriters and sportscasters. She won it again by a whopping margin in recognition of her second successive sweep of the U.S. and Wimbledon championships.

Ranked Among Greats

It elevated the 31-year-old star among the all-time greats of sport — a position she had been aiming for ever since she broke into the major tournament set.

Althea received 133 first place votes out of a possible 202 and 456 points. Points were counted on a basis of three for first place, two for second, one for third.

Carol Heiss, the blonde, pretty, 18-year-old world figure skating champion from New York, was a distant second with 21 first placers and 199 points.

Beverly Hanson, leading money-winning golf pro from Indio, Calif., was third with 10 first placers and 126 points. Ilse Konrads, 14-year-old Australian swim phenom, was fourth with 82 points (10 firsts) and Dawn Fraser, another Australian swimming record-holder, was fifth with 42 points (one first).

Other Multiple Winners

Miss Gibson became the first consecutive double winner in the AP poll since Maureen (Little Mo) Connolly, the former tennis champion, won it in 1951, 1952 and 1953. The other only consecutive repeaters were Alice Marble, another court queen, in 1939 and 1940, and the fabulous Babe Didrikson Zaharias in 1945, 1946 and 1947 for golf.

One of the two prized trophies Miss Gibson will receive is named in memory of the Babe. The other will be given at the Fraternal Order of the Eagles' dinner in Milwaukee, Feb. 9, when Australia's Herb Elliott, the marvel miler, will be given the male athlete of the year trophy.

Equine Methuselah

EL CAJON, Calif. (AP) — The day a horse named Fleet died, Dr. Randall Knox said the animal must have been 50 years old.

Dr. Knox had owned the horse for 20 years and said he was told it was born the day the United States navy's Great White fleet sailed into San Diego bay. That was in 1908. Veterinarians say the average life of a well cared for horse is 20 years.

Johansson, Jordan Named For Leading Ring Awards

NEW YORK (AP) — Sweden's Ingemar Johansson and welterweight champion Don Jordan of Los Angeles are Ring magazine's pin up boys for 1958.

Johansson, the undefeated European heavyweight champion, was named "Fighter of the Year" and Jordan was singled out for the "Progress Award" by the monthly boxing publication today.

The husky, 26-year-old Swede got the pick over middleweight champion Ray Robinson and light heavyweight ruler Archie Moore for his first round knockout of previously undefeated Eddie Machen and two other kayos in '58.

This boosted Johansson's record to 21-0, including 13 knockouts, and in the process elevated him to the No. 1 challenger to world champion Floyd Patterson.

Jordan virtually came out of nowhere in less than a year. The 23 - year - old Californian wasn't ranked in the first 10 and had lost 10 fights. Then he lost his second fight of the year in London to Dave Charpley, the British Empire lightweight champion. After that disputed decision, Don went into high gear.

He won seven straight, including decisions over Cuban Isaac Logart and Mexican Gaspar Ortega, leading contenders, to earn a title shot at Virgil Akins. He drubbed Akins in 15 rounds Dec. 5 to win the title.

Japanese Slugger Capable Of Action in Major Leagues

TOKYO (AP) — Shigeo Nagashima is a raw-boned 22-year-old third baseman whose name means 10,000 extra baseball fans through the turnstiles every day he appears in uniform.

Experts claim he is the best Japanese player they have ever seen.

Solly Hemus, new manager of the St. Louis Cardinals who recently finished a tour of Japan, says the youngster is good enough to make any American major league club.

BUT WILL the Wonder Boy ever get the chance? The odds are against it since his departure would mean a tremendous loss of revenue to his club, the Tokyo Yomiuri Giants. They paid a reported $60,000 for his signature a year ago.

"Nagashima is now worth five times more to Japanese baseball. I don't think the Yomiuri Giants would let him go," says Hemus.

"We wouldn't let him got for a million dollars," says Kazue Shinagawa, president of the Yomiuri Giants "Nagashima is not only the backbone of the Giants but he is the idol of millions of Japanese baseball fans. Japanese pro baseball would be dead without Nagashima."

In baseball-mad Japan the handsome slugger attracts more crowds than many fop movies stars.

THE GIANTS outbid 12 other Japanese pro baseball clubs for the 170-pound, 5-foot-11 graduate of Rikkyo University. The investment paid off even before the close of his first pro season this year.

"Nagashima showed me enough to convince me that he is of major league calibre," says Hemus. "He can hit, run and throw well. He has plenty of batting power. When you have a youngster in his first year of pro ball doing those things, well, you have a major league prospect."

Nagashima hit a homer in the opening game of the Japan-United States goodwill series off southpaw Wilmer Mizell and a double off right hander Larry Jackson in the second game.

In his first pro season the young slugger took top honors in most hitting departments.

VOTED ROOKIE of the year, he walloped 29 home runs to lead both the Central and Pacific leagues. He led the Central with 92 runs batted in, with hits, 153; doubles, 34; total bases, 290, and in runs with 89.

He was second in stolen bases with 37 and tied for second in triples with eight. In his league a reputable .305 average gave him the runnerup spot.

In the past, Japanese baseball players have been noted to be fleet of foot but light with the bat.

Nagashima is the exception. He is both fast and powerful with a bat.

Cuban Forces Threatened by Rebel Activity

HAVANA (AP) — Government forces in Las Villas province, in central Cuba, are facing increasing menace from rebels and have been reinforced.

The followers of rebel chieftain Fidel Castro have intensified their fight against the forces of President Fulgencio Batista in the past few days.

The rebel campaign in Las Villas apparently is interfering seriously with the army's attempt to step up an offensive against Castro forces in Oriente province. Oriente, a rebel stronghold, is at the eastern end of Cuba. Castro has his mountain headquarters there.

The rebels claim that government communications between Las Villas and Oriente are threatened. The rebels say they have taken the cities of Cabaiguan and Sancti Spiritus, commanding the central highway between Santa Clara, capital of Las Villas, and Camaguey province, which lies between Las Villas and Oriente.

Reports from Las Villas say the army has sent in 18 armored units with a total of about 3,600 men to counter the attacks.

Prisoners Here Dine Well on Christmas Day

Prisoners in the city and county jails were treated to turkey dinners on Christmas Day Thursday because of the thoughtfulness of city and county authorities.

A full course dinner with all the trimmings was prepared for the some 20 prisoners in the county jail by the matron, Mrs. Glenn Obenour.

At the city jail there were fewer trimmings but the turkey dinners purchased from a local restaurant that were served to the four prisoners were a far cry from the normal fare of a sandwich and cup of coffee.

President of Missouri College Disappears on Way to Florida

MARSHALL, Mo. (AP)—Dr. M. Earle Collins, president of Missouri Valley College, has been missing since early Christmas Day.

His wife notified police when he failed to return from Christmas Eve church services.

But a son-in-law, Jamie Hogue, said, "We are not worried about him." He said Dr. Collins, 55, had planned to leave Thursday for Orlando, Fla., where the school's football team plays East Texas State in the Tangerine Bowl Saturday.

However, he had planned to leave on an afternoon train from Kansas City. Hogue said Dr. Collins apparently changed his mind, and caught an early morning train at Springfield, Mo., instead.

Dr. Collins' car was found near the railroad station in Springfield. A ticket agent, Doyle Jones, identified a picture of Dr. Collins as that of a man who produced a Frisco Railroad pass for travel to Birmingham. The agent said the man then purchased a ticket from Birmingham, Ala., to Orlando, showing identification to obtain a ministerial discount. Missouri Valley is a Presbyterian college and Dr. Collins is a church elder.

Redcap Dillard Watson also recognized the picture and said the man had asked him where to find the Orlando car on the train. Conductor W. F. Wood and porter Ernest Goodwin who took the train to Memphis said they did not recognize the picture. Wood said he would remember anyone traveling on a pass.

A reporter and the station master at Birmingham went through the train from Springfield when it stopped there Thursday night but did not find Dr. Collins.

Later, Hogue said the family believed the college president may have left the train at Memphis and continued his trip by air. But a search in Memphis for him was unsuccessful.

"We feel he knows what he is doing and will arrive at Orlando as he planned," Hogue said.

At Orlando, Coach Volney Ashford of the Missouri team said he believed Dr. Collins was en route to Orlando by train which is due in at 1 p.m. (EST).

Runaway Choice as Top Newsmaker

De Gaulle AP Editors' Choice as 'Man of Year'

The Man of the Year selections of The Associated Press are made in strict accordance with the ballots returned by the 3,700 radio and newspaper members of The AP. In an annual poll, they are asked to vote on the "top news personalities" of the year. Votes do not necessarily mean support by the editors for all programs or activities of the winners; it does mean they captured the year's headlines in their respective fields.

By TOM HENSHAW
Associated Press Newsfeature Writer

Old Soldier Charles de Gaulle, summoned from retirement to lead his beloved France out of the political wilderness, is the Man of the Year for 1958.

De Gaulle, 67, and out of the limelight nearly five years, was the runaway choice as the year's top newsmaker in the annual Associated Press poll of the nation's news editors.

The towering, taciturn Frenchman came to power as riots echoed in the streets of Paris, rebellious Army officers held sway in Algeria and France teetered helplessly on the brink of civil war.

His first move as premier was to suspend the National Assembly and pack the bickering, factious deputies off on an enforced "vacation." This enabled him to rule alone.

THEN HE SET about the herculean task of completly revising the French political system through a new constitution which would give more power to the president and less to the chaotic Assembly.

The constitution was voted in by an overwhelming margin and the 12-year-old Fourth French Republic pased out of existence to be replaced by the Fifth Reoublic. president: Charles de Gaulle.

Second to de Gaulle as a newsmaker, in the opinion of the news editors, was Nelson Rockefeller, a Republican newcomer to politics who leaped high on the list of presidential possibilities by winning the governorship of New York amid a Democratic sweep elsewhere.

De Gaulle also proved to be the top man in foreign affairs, winning the distinction by a narrow margin over John Foster Dulles, America's much-traveled secretary of state.

POPE JOHN XXIII, spiritual ruler of the Roman Catholic Church, broke evangelist Billy Graham's hold on the title of Man of the Year in Religion. Graham was the winner in the past four years.

Runnerup to the new Pope in the editor's poll was the old one, Pius XII, who died in October after a long reign of nearly 20 years. Billy Graham was third.

Boris Pasternak, Russian who won a Nobel Prize for a book critical of communism and then was forced by the Soviets to turn down the award, was the editors' choice as Man of the Year in Literature.

The book "Dr. Zhivago" was published in the United States for the first time in 1958 and moved quickly to the head of the best seller lists. The controversy put Pasternak far ahead in the poll's literary field.

FOR THE SECOND year in a row, Wernher von Braun, the German-born scientist who is now a leader in American missile and space efforts, was the editors' top man in science.

American successes in the field during 1958—particularly its satellite launchings—gave von Braun the nod over his runnerup, Adm. Hyman Rickover, developer of the atomic submarine.

Van Cliburn, bushy-haired Texas pianist who leaped from obscurity by winning the International Tchaikovsky Piano Competition in Moscow, was adjudged the year's biggest newsmaker in entertainment.

In the business and industrial field, the editors' plaudits went to George W. Romney, president of American Motors, which took advantage of a big demand for small, economical cars to roll up large profits in a year when other auto makers were taking loses or cutting profits.

SECOND TO Romney was Bernard Goldfine, the Boston industrialist whose gift-giving friendship with Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams raised such a furor that Adams was forced to resign.

The editors' choice in the sports field was Casey Stengel, who piloted his New York Yankees to victory in the World Series after they had fallen behind the Milwaukee Braves, three games to one.

Roy Campanella, catcher for the Los Angeles (nee Brooklyn) Dodgers whose baseball career was ended by a paralyzing auto accident, was second to Stengel.

Three Injured, Two Arrested, In Morrow Highway Mishaps

Three injuries, none of them serious, and two arrests were the result of four highway mishaps investigated in Morrow County Wednesday and Thursday by highway patrolmen from the Marion post.

Two of the three injuries came about at 9:15 a.m. Wednesday on U.S. Rt. 42 about two and one-half miles south of Mount Gilead and involved a car driven by Ira Martin, 76, of Ashland.

Patrolmen said Martin, headed south, started to slow his car after getting onto slick pavement. The vehicle went into a skid, careening off the roadway into the ditch, throwing a passenger, Ruth Kissell, 65, of near Ashland, from the car.

Suffers Head Cut

The Kissell woman suffered a laceration of the forehead and bruises, while Martin sustained a bruised forehead. Moderate damage was reported to the car, according to the report.

At 4:15 p.m., at the intersectio of State Rt. 229 and Morrow County Rd. 24, a mishap involved cars driven by Elijah Moore, 47, of Marengo, and Robert Smith, 23, also of Marengo.

Patrolmen said Moore was eastbound on 229. Smith pulled onto the state route from the county road into Moore's path, the resulting collision doing moderate damage to both cars and giving a passenger in the Moore car, Edna Moore, 37, a lacerated forehead. She was treated by a Marengo physician, the report noted.

Investigating officers charged Smith with failure to yield the right of way and ordered him to appear before Mount Gilead Mayor Ralph Porterfield at a later date.

The driver of a semi-trailer truck escaped injury when his rig jack-knifed and upset on U.S. Rt. 42 about three miles south of Mount Gilead at 7:50 a.m. Wednesday.

Skids Into Ditch

Patromen reported that Charles L. Drupper, 31, of Elsmere, Ky., was southbound with the outfit when his trailer went into a skid. The entire outfit overturned, blocking traffic from both directions for some time and doing extensive damage to the unit.

A single mishap Thursday occurred at 5:20 p.m. on State Rt. 314 eight miles northeast of Mount Gilead.

The report noted that drivers of the two cars involved were Socrates Delianides, 27, of Mansfield, and Eugene Weikel, 36, of Fredericktown.

Delianides was northbound on the state route when he apparently saw Weikel backing out of a private driveway too late to stop. His car crashed into the Weikel vehicle before going off the road into the ditch.

Moderate damage was done both cars, according to the report. Delianides was arrested on a charge of failure to stop within the assured clear distance, while Weikel was cited on a charge of improper backing. Both will appear before Mount Gilead Mayor Porterfield at a later date, patrolmen said.

Fight Against Inflation Will Continue

Prices Likely To Press Upward in '59

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Washington's business forecast for 1959:

High and steadily rising activity. No boom.

National output somewhere between 460 and 470 billion dollars—a record, but not spectacularly above the 1958 yearend rate of around 450 billion.

Cost of living quite stable until midyear. Then resuming its rise to new peaks.

Employment improving month by month from 1958 levels. But not reaching "full employment" before 1960.

That appraisal is a consensus of the views of administration and congressional economists given in private interviews as the country closed the books on an 18-month cycle of recession and recovery.

SOME officials are more bullish. A few believe production will exceed a 470-billion-dollar annual rate by midyear and push on to 490 billions a year from now.

That could happen, all agree—especially if inflationary forces break loose again. But a majority look for—and hope for—a more gradual advance. A pell-mell rush into another boom, they hold, would hasten the next bust.

Looking back, they are gratified to note that the recession, meaning the downswing phase, was one of the shortest of the past century. It started in August 1957 and hit bottom in April.

The recovery since then has been steady and widely shared. Its pace has been satisfactory though slower in several respects than the comeback from the two earlier postwar recessions.

THE 1957-8 slump therefore gave reassuring evidence of the resiliency of the American economy. In that connection, two aspects of the downturn drew special comment here:

First, nobody panicked. Consumers kept right on buying.

Second, the economy's built-in stabilizers worked admirably. Total income, like retail sales, was on the rise before business generally stopped going down.

Comparatively few of the laid-off workers were entirely without income. Unemployment compensation took over when paychecks stopped. Relief payments rose.

President Eisenhower's ceiling on military outlays was lifted and contract-letting was speeded up.

Well aware of the problem and its own share of responsibility, the administration has accepted as its No. 1 economic goal the halting of the price rise which has taken an 8-cent chunk out of the buying power of the consumer's dollar since 1955.

TO MINIMIZE the government's share in forcing prices up, Eisenhower this fall issued hold-down orders to government agencies drafting their fiscal 1960 budget requests. The Federal Reserve Board clamped down on credit even before the recovery was complete. The Treasury tried to divert its borrowings from commercial banks into less inflationary channels.

In most respects 1959 shapes up as the best-ever year.

The gross national product, or total value of all goods produced and services rendered, probably has moved up to a rate of 450 billion dollars a year.

White House advisers expect the rate to march to new highs quarter by quarter throughout 1959.

Today, nine months after the recession found bottom, the durable goods producers have recovered most of the lost ground. The soft goods industries—textiles, apparel, foods and beverages—have more than made up the decline. Construction is heading into its first 50-billion-dollar year.

Profits are expected to recover rapidly, as they generally do when productivity advances rapidly. Consumer buying power should advance in step with production.

One official summed up the 1959 outlook in a sentence:

"It may not be a boom year, but it will be a little better than any we've had."

New Talks Slated in Walkout At International Harvester Co.

CHICAGO (AP)—A renewed effort to settle the six-week strike at International Harvester Co. plants will be made Sunday when federal mediators present new proposals to negotiators for the company and United Auto Workers.

The two groups have failed to reach agreement on seven issues.

Negotiations broke down six days ago in the dispute which has idled 37,000 workers in 18 harvester plants and 6 warehouses and 2 parts depots.

Both sides agreed Wednesday to meet Sunday with Douglas D. Brown and William Murray of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

A Jan. 6 date had been set originally for resumption of talks when negotiations broke off last Saturday.

Issues unresolved included: Harvester wants to freeze night shift premiums at the present level and asks the union to agree to a summer shutdown for inventory purposes. The UAW wants special wage increases for apprentices, higher wage hikes for clerical and technical help than generally agreed upon, and correction of wage inequities claimed by the union in some plants.

Agreement has been reached on a six cent per hour wage hike, or 2½ per cent, whichever is higher; continuation of the cost of living clause; supplementary unemployment compensation; pensions, hospitalization and insurance and seniority rights.

Under the expired contract, wages averaged $2.55 hourly.

Space Race Voted Top News Story of 1958

Rated in Top Spot Second Year in Row

Continuing Mideast Crisis Picked as Next Best by AP's Editors

By The Associated Press

The race into space, climaxed by the launching of the mighty four-ton American satellite that apparently gave the United States the lead over Russia, was the big news story of 1958.

It was the second year in a row that space and missiles — those thrilling and chilling harbingers of a hopeful but uncertain future — were the top choice of the nation's news editors in the annual Associated Press poll.

But, while the stories covered the same field, there was a significant difference.

Russians Tops Last Year

Last year, the page one headlines recorded spectacular Russian successes and bitter American frustrations. The Russians indeed were the space leaders in 1957.

This year, however, American successes far outweighed the failures, while announcements of important satellite and missile launchings behind the Iron Curtain were few and far between.

The four-ton Atlas, launched by the Air Force Dec. 18, is by far the largest instrument carrying satellite yet fired, much larger than the Russians' Sputnik III, which weighed 1½ tons.

Other Satellites Launched

In addition to the monster Atlas, the United States fired three successful Army Explorer satellites and the Navy added a tiny (3¼ pound) Vanguard, which may stay up 200 years.

Some of the American failures proved spectacular. The Air Force's Pioneer moonshot in October failed to reach the moon but it fired the world's imagination by rising 79,000 miles, man's farthest penetration into space.

The big development in the missile field was the first successful launching of an American intercontinental ballistic missile, an Air Force Atlas, which roared more than 6,000 miles into the Atlantic, giving the United States a powerful new weapon for its preparedness arsenal.

Voted No. 2 Story

The continuing crisis in the Middle East, brought home personally to many Americans by the landing of U. S. Marines in revolt-torn Lebanon, was voted the No. 2 story by the news editors.

The turbulent Arab World erupted from its chronic simmering state in July when a group of Army officers, in a swift, early morning coup, assassinated King Feisal and seized the government of pro-Western Iraq.

The unexpected move so alarmed the Western world that, the very next day, American Marines were rushed in to restore peace to Lebanon and British troops went to the support of King Hussein in unstable Jordan.

The Marines stayed in Lebanon until a stable, compromise government had been formed. The British also left Jordan when the tension had eased but, at year's end, the Middle East still was in a state of crisis.

The off-year elections, a solid Democratic sweep that included that party's first congressman from Vermont in more than 100 years, was the editors' choice as the third best news story of 1958.

The election also was fraught with implications for 1960, a presidential year.

Sen. William Knowland of California, long-time chief rival to Vice President Nixon for the Republican nomination in '60, was all but eliminated when he lost his race for governor to Democrat Edmund (Pat) Brown.

New Rival Emerges

But a new Nixon rival emerged in personable Nelson Rockefeller, who made his political debut with an authoritative victory over Democrat Averell Harriman in their contest for the governorship of New York.

The death of Pope Pius XII, supreme pontiff of the Roman Catholic world, and the election of his successor, John XXIII, was the fourth best news story in the opinion of the news editors.

Placed fifth was the case of Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams and his gift-giving friend, Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine. The affair bore heavy political overtones and possibly influenced the election.

Adams admitted being "imprudent" in taking gifts from Goldfine but he denied that he used his influence to obtain favorable decisions from government agencies for his friend. Adams resigned under fire.

Other Top Stories

The other top stories:

No. 6—The Chicago school fire. A total of 90 young children and three nuns perished when fire flashed through Our Lady of the Angels grammar school in Chicago. Only two other school fires took more lives in the last 100 years.

Although the fire occurred after most editors had cast their ballots, a spot check in major cities indicated the story rated as one of the major news stories of the year. Average position was No. 6.

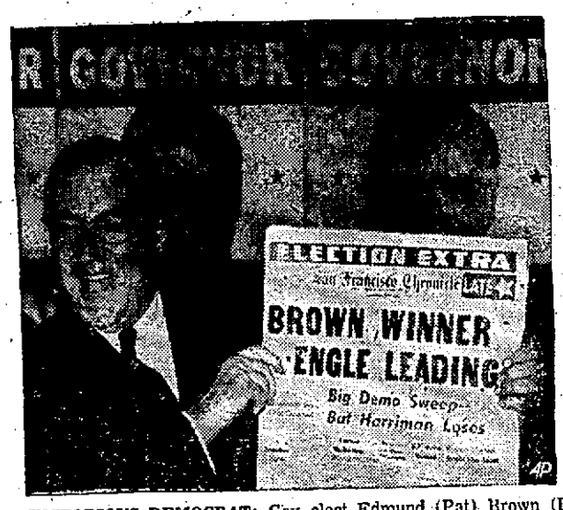
No. 7 — The Arctic voyage of Nautilus. The first nuclear powered submarine sailed under the Arctic ice pack at the North Pole, an unprecedented feat. It was submerged under the ice 96 hours.

No. 8 — Integration. Schools in Virginia and Arkansas were closed as the South took a new defensive tack in its attempt to avoid seating white and Negro children in the same classrooms. Some white classes continued in private buildings. The integrated high school in Clinton, Tenn., was blown up.

No. 9 — De Gaulle and the Fifth French Republic. Disident Army officers, frustrated by the drawn-out Algerian rebellion, revolted peacefully against the chaotic French political system and brought back to power war hero Charles de Gaulle. De Gaulle's new constitution revamped the French government into potential stability but the Algerian question remained unsolved.

No. 10 — Recession and recovery. A business decline that began in the late months of 1957 reached bottom in April 1958, when a government count showed about 5½ million unemployed. But, by the end of the year, the economy apparently was well on the road to recovery.

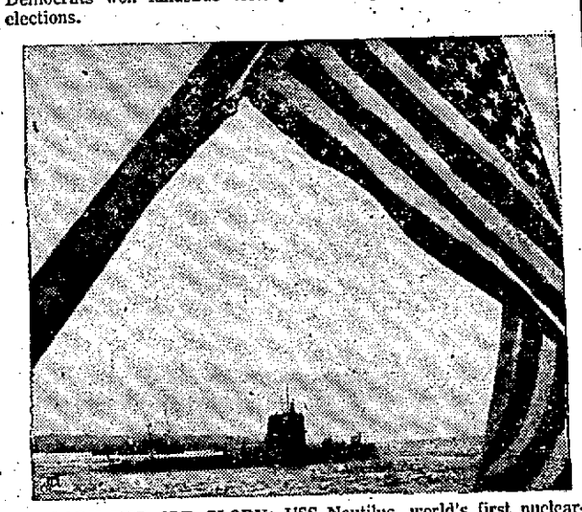
MIDEAST CROSSROAD: U. S. Marines stand guard at a Lebanese intersection during their brief occupation of the revolt-torn Middle East nation. They left when rival political factions reached compromise.



VICTORIOUS DEMOCRAT: Gov.-elect Edmund (Pat) Brown (D-Calif.) flashes wide victory grin as he displays reason for smiling. Democrats won landslide victory over Republicans in November elections.

SPACE RACE TAKEOFF: Air Force Pioneer heads moonward from a Cape Canaveral, Fla., launching pad. First moonshot failed but thrilled the world.

SCHOOL HOLOCAUST: Firefighter carries young victim down ladder as others fight blaze that swept Our Lady of the Angels grammar school in Chicago. Fire claimed lives of 90 children and three nuns.



GLORY FOR OLD GLORY: USS Nautilus, world's first nuclear-powered submarine, glides into New York Harbor after its pioneer voyage under the Arctic ice cap at the North Pole.

NEW PONTIFF: Pope John XXIII, new head of Roman Catholic Church, assumes prayerful attitude as he is carried into atrium of St. Peter's Basilica, Rome.

Industry Looks for Strong Demand

Steelmen Are Optimistic For 1959, Barring Strike

By JOHN MODDY
AP Business News Writer

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The steel industry—equipped to produce 140 million tons of steel annually — used little more than half its mammoth facilities during much of recession-ridden 1958.

Steelmen predict better things for the new year but warn that a long strike—which no one is willing to discount—over a 1959 labor contract could easily upset early forecasts.

Even a fourth-quarter business upturn couldn't save 1958 from going into the record book as the worst production year since 1949.

Profits and employment reflected empty pages in order books. Customers preportedly lived off reserve stockpiles built up in times when steel was hard to come by.

Auto manufacturers, steel's biggest customer, had a tough year and trimmed their steel ordering far below expectations.

Workers—those who escaped the furlough ax—got the final wage increase provided by the three-year contract signed in more prosperous 1956. The increase was followd by a jump in the price of steel.

Whether the total tonnage is a little over or a little under, 1958 goes into the books as the first year since 1954 that annual production did not exceed 100 million tons.

Many steel executives have predicted 1959 production will total between 108 and 110 million tons.

Profit returns, while not cut back as far as production figures, were not bright.

Final earnings reports will not be totaled for several weeks but industry profits for the first nine months of 1958 totaled $494,698,674 compared with $974,851,145 in the first nine months of 1957.

The steel industry and the United Steelworkers Union signed a three-year contract in 1956.

During the two-year negotiating lull USW President David J. McDonald has been talking about big gains for the steelworkers in 1959.

Many executives of big steel industry is going to be a difficult unit to bargain with next year. There have been predictions of a long strike if McDonald insists on big gains in wages and benefits.

LONDON (AP)—More than 200 cars, all manufactured before 1905, were entered in the annual London-to-Brighton race.

Economic Prop Still Needed in 1959

High Federal Spending To Continue

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Spending has a way of happening, whether you like it or not. Ask Uncle Sam.

His budget is deeper in the red than ever before in peacetime. Yet even as he plans to economize, experts tell him he's spending more than his budget indicates.

For the third time since last summer, government economists have increased their estimates of future federal outlays for goods and services.

These are the estimates that give an advance clue to the government's contribution to national output. The fact that they have again been raised indicates federal spending will continue to add zip to the business recovery for at least the next six months.

BEYOND NEXT July the outlook is clouded because it will be several weeks before President Eisenhower sends Congress his new budget for the 1960 fiscal year that begins July 1. A lot depends too on what Congress does to that budget.

The odds are, however, that federal spending will remain a significant prop under the economy throughout 1959.

In the current fiscal year, the government is spending roughly 80 billion dollars. This compares with about 72 billions in the last bookkeeping year.

About two-thirds of this spending is for goods and services—missiles, trucks, office machines, buildings, pay for federal employes, etc. Money spent in this fashion moves directly into the economy.

SIX MONTHS ago, government economists estimated that federal purchases of goods and services would reach an annual rate of 55 billion dollars by next June.

Now they say it probably will be closer to 56½ billions by June.

Even if Congress and the administration hold the line on spending in fiscal 1960, a mere continuation of the projected April-June level would produce an average of 56¼ billion dollars for calendar 1959.

That would mean an increase of about 3½ billion dollars over the 1958 average—enough to be a significant plus factor in the 1959 economy.

With a $12,200,000,000 deficit forecast for the current fiscal year, the new Congress will hear plenty of talk about economy in government.

As in 1958, however, the administration and Congress may discover that spending tends to happen faster than expected.

The first cheese factory in the U.S. was built at Rome, N. Y., in 1851.

Six in Hospitals After Crash Of Autos South of Delaware

DELAWARE — A Worthington woman was seriously injured in one of three accidents Wednesday which put six persons in Delaaare and Columbus hospitals.

State highway patrolmen here said Mrs. James Cooper, 42, of Worthington suffered possible fractures of the skull, pelvis, elbow, hip, ribs and spine when the car in which she was riding was struck broadside by another at the intersection of Powell Rd. and U.S. Rt. 23.

The eastbound car, driven by her 51-year-old husband, was struck by a northbound auto driven by John Ditsler, 42, of Delaware at about 5 p.m. Patrolmen said Cooper stopped at the intersection and then drove into the path of Ditslear's car. Both autos were demolished.

Others Injured

Also injured were Cooper's daughter, Joan, 20, with a possible fractured pelvis; Mrs. Katherine Ditslear, 43, with cuts on the face and right leg and possible neck and back injuries, and Cooper, with head bruises.

Liberty and Sharon Township emergency squads took the Cooper family to University Hospital in Columbus. The Ditslears were taken to Jane M. Case Hospital in a Bennett - Brown ambulance. Cooper was cited to appear in Municipal Court Jan. 3 on a charge of failure to yield the right of way.

Two other persons were hospitalized here with injuries suffered at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday in a two-car crash on Rt. 36 just west of Delaware.

Car Skids Out of Control

Patrolmen said a west car driven by Barbara Swisher, 19, of near Ostrander skidded out of control and slammed into an eastbound car driven by Mildred Burrell of Delaware. Ada Baker, 80, a passenger in the Burrell car, suffered severe scalp cuts and a possible fractured jaw. Miss Swisher, charged with driving left of center, suffered face cuts and shock, patrolmen said.

A Michigan woman was slightly injured in a three-car crash on Rt. 23 about five miles north of here at 3:30 p.m.

A southbound car driven by Marie Nicholas, 46, of Berkely, Mich., skidded into a northbound car driven by Donald Lobdell, 20, of Delaware, patrolmen said. The Lobdell car overturned in a ditch and the Nicholas car slammed into a southbound car driven by Sidney Burke, 37, of Birch Run, Mich.

Patrolmen said Marcella Burke of Birch Run, Mich., complained of back injuries but declined immediate medical treatment.

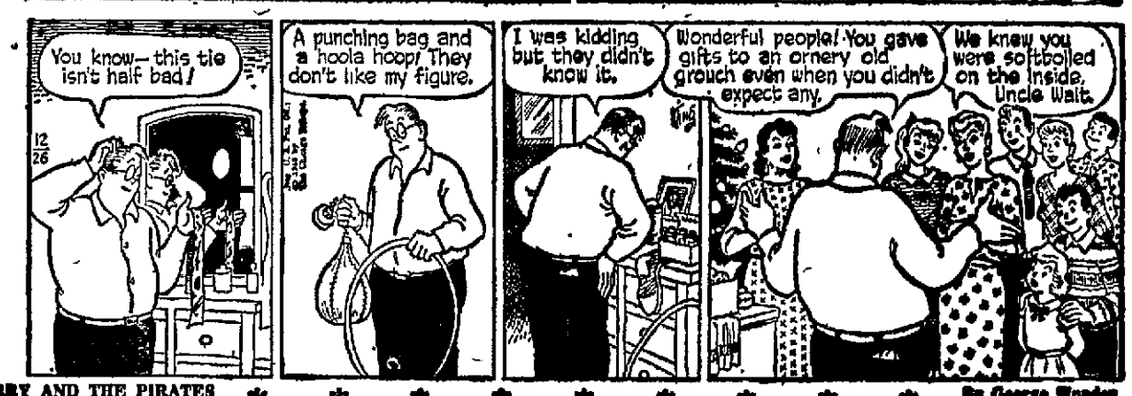
GASOLINE ALLEY By Frank King

We knew you'd weaken, Walt. Holding out was against nature!
So we've been shopping for you.
We wouldn't let you take all the fun out of Christmas.
I'm overwhelmed! You double-crossed me!
Sure, and you deserved it.
You couldn't make us believe you'd ditched the yuletide spirit!
Open it!



You know—this tie isn't half bad!
A punching bag and a hoola hoop! They don't like my figure.
I was kidding but they didn't know it.
Wonderful people! You gave gifts to an ornery old grouch even when you didn't expect any.
We knew you were softboiled on the inside, Uncle Walt.

RIP! YOU WONDERFUL MAN!
I DENY THAT, BUT NOT EMPHATICALLY...
RIP CAN YOU SHOW ME WHY SOME PEOPLE BELIEVE THE MEASUREMENTS OF THE PYRAMIDS WERE SUPPOSED TO TELL THE FUTURE?
CERTAINLY, CINDY... LOOK AT THE CROSS-SECTION DRAWING HERE OF KARA-HOTEP'S PYRAMID...

Woman in New Jersey Finishes Climb Upward

NEWARK, N J. (AP) — Twenty-five years ago Mrs. Louise Scott could have been a domestic at the old 40-room Kreuger Mansion. Now she owns it.

Mrs. Scott, a South Carolina Negro farm girl, came north after graduating from high school and took a job as a maidservant. She went to night school, where she studied beauty culture. In 1944 she opened her own beauty salon here. Now she has a chain of five.

She bought the four-story Kreuger Mansion, once owned by Newark brewer Gottfried Kreuger, and is turning it into a neighborhood house.
